Condon-Wadlin Bill Is Passed At Historic Assembly Session

One of Most Hotly Contested Measures in Recent Years Provides Turmoil; Dewey Reported Insistent Regardless of Political Import on His Future Career

Albany, N. Y., March 14 (AP)—The Condon-Wadlin bill outlawing strikes by public employees in New York state under penalty of automatic dismissal was before Governor Thomas E. Dewey today for signature.

The bill, fiercely contested by organized labor, civil service employee organizations and public school teacher groups, went to the Governor following final legislative approval at 1:30 a. m. today in an historic Assembly session.

The Assembly passed the measure 92-54. Fourteen Republican assemblymen joined with the solid Democratic minority in opposition.

Dewey, silent himself as state-wide furor mounted around the issue, was represented as regarding it necessary to prevent constitutional government from collapsing into possible anarchy. The Governor authoritatively was reported as feeling so strongly on the problem that he called for the Condon-Wadlin legislation regardless of its effect on his future political career.

Democratic Leader Irwin Steingut stated his party opposed public employee strikes. He said the Condon-Wadlin bill was an "unjustified measure of extreme harshness" would "destroy the civil service system" and "make second class citizens of public employees."

Democrat Harry Gittelsohn of Brooklyn, who delivered the main minority blast at the measure, said existing statutes, including some on the books since 1881, would prevent public employee strikes if heads of governmental divisions had the courage to apply them. He said the bill was defective and inconsistent and presumed an employee automatically guilty before giving him the opportunity to establish his innocence.

Several Republicans who voted for the bill praised Gittelsohn's "masterful presentation" but said that "any defects" could be amended later.

Some Republicans argued that the measure was aimed at subversive groups which they said encouraged discontent among employees as part of a program to undermine the American system of government.

Assemblyman Frank J. Becker of Nassau flatly denounced "Bolshevik" and "hammer and sickle" groups. He termed the bill "good

Truman's Advice to Let Draft Act to End Came After Bid for 3-Month Delay

Generals and Senators Had Views Varying From Truman's

Washington, March 14 (AP)—President Truman overruled his top military manpower experts in advising Congress to let the wartime draft act expire at the end of this month.

This became known today after Chairman Gurney (R-S.D.) made available to a reporter the transcript of a closed door session of the Senate armed services committee.

Gurney previously reported a committee decision to urge a delay of at least three months in the transfer of draft records from local boards to state capitals because of the troubled world situation.

The recorded testimony of Tuesday's committee meeting disclosed that both Maj. Gen. W. S. Paul, army chief of personnel, and Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, Selective Service director, conceded under questioning that they had recommended continuance of the draft even though there have been no induction calls since October.

Senator Saltonstall (R-Mass.) asked Paul whether it would not have been better to have extended Selective Service itself, rather than set up an Office of Selective Service records proposed by the President to keep draft files intact.

"As for me, I think personally it would be far simpler to have retained the skeleton organization, but the commander-in-chief did not see fit to do so, so I am in no position to say otherwise," Paul replied.

Byrd, Hershey Differed

Senator Byrd (D-Va.) developed that Hershey and the President also differed about extension of the draft after Hershey testified the machinery would be badly needed for any "remobilization."

"The President did not agree with you on that danger because he would have recommended a continuance of Selective Service," Byrd observed.

"I think that is obvious," Hershey responded.

"One more question," Byrd said, Continued on Page Twelve

Woodstock Board Considers Water Petition

Woodstock Town officials met last night to discuss the petition signed by village residents to create a water district. Present at the meeting were the following officials: Seated, Justice Roland

Majority of Telegrams to White House Are in Favor, President's Aide Says

China May Hold Off

Prospects for Big 3 Talks With China Are Less Bright

Washington, March 14 (AP)—A move developed today to combine Senate and House committee hearings and thus speed action on President Truman's program for American aid to Greece and Turkey.

It was suggested by Rep. Lodge (R-Conn.), as the House foreign affairs committee met to hear a discussion of the program by Undersecretary of State Acheson, Secretary of War Patterson and Secretary of the Navy Forrestal.

These same officials went over the President's proposal yesterday in a session with the Senate foreign relations committee. Lodge said he saw no reason why hearings should not be combined. But some other committee members expressed private doubt to newsmen that the Senate committee would agree. They said the Senate group always had been reluctant to depart from the tradition of separate hearings.

At the White House, officials reported a continuing inflow of comment on the President's Wednesday speech. Eben Ayers, assistant press secretary, said about 200 telegrams arrived overnight.

He said there were many in opposition but called them "obviously inspired." Most came from New York.

Outside of those that are "clearly propaganda," Ayers declared, the overwhelming majority favor the President's recommendations.

Capitol Hill comment indicated congressional opposition would be confined to narrowing the terms under which $400,000,000 of aid would go to Greece and Turkey.

Rep. S. Ford (R-S.D.), a member of the House foreign affairs committee, told reporters he thought the chief bone of contention would be Mr. Truman's request for authority to send military missions to the two countries.

"What it amounts to," he told a reporter, "is whether or not Congress should surrender to the President the right to declare war."

"If we send an unlimited number of military missions abroad, and they become involved in fighting, we just couldn't leave them there without doing something."

Prospects Are Dim

Moscow, March 14 (AP)—Prospects for Big Three talks concerning the Chinese crisis, with China present, dimmed today despite Russian insistence, as an authoritative source said it was highly unlikely China would agree to participate.

The Chinese maneuvers, starting with Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov's written request for such conferences last night, shared keen interest among the western delegations with a whopping Izvestia editorial, which in the first Russian reaction to President Truman's message accused him of breaking United Nations obligations and of trying to grab the two countries.

Oppression was growing strongly that Soviet and U.S. competition for world leadership was boiling down to naked power diplomacy in which China, Greece or Turkey, are or may become points of conflict such as eastern Europe has long been.

The force of Soviet feeling was shown by the blunt words the editorial applied to Truman. It is very unusual for an official Soviet publication to talk harshly about the head of a state, no matter how they lambast lesser lights.

Anxious to Keep Out

The Chinese seem anxious to keep out of the current situation, and the authoritative source said the Nanking government was almost certain to reject a prospective invitation to sit in on the talks Molotov urged.

P. S. Foo, Chinese ambassador to Moscow, called on Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin of Britain today.

Dewey Chalks Up Clean Sweep for His Major Bills

Teacher Pay, Veterans Bonus, Local Tax Measures Pass at Albany

Albany, N. Y., March 14 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey today tallied a clean sweep for his major legislative program with passage of the teacher pay bill, the $111,000,000 local tax plan and the measure to finance the veterans' bonus through special levies.

All these bills gained final approval of the Republican-controlled legislature late last night after undergoing the most severe attacks ever hurled against any group of Dewey proposals.

The showdown came in the assembly, which followed the senate in endorsing the measures and sent them to the governor for his signature.

Pleas of G.O.P. legislative leaders to uphold Dewey's leadership, made to the Republican lawmakers at party conferences, were credited with having saved the local tax bill from defeat.

Threatened to Rebel

A large number of upstate Republicans were reported authoritatively to have threatened to rebel and vote against the measure, which authorizes counties and the larger cities to levy a half-dozen "nuisance" taxes in order to meet increased educational and other operating costs.

Even with the issue of Dewey's leadership at stake, 10 Republican assemblymen voted against the bill. They were joined by seven Democrats and Samuel Kaplan, Brooklyn American Laborite. The vote was 124 to 18.

Republican dissenters were Assemblymen Orlo M. Brees of Oswego, Henry D. Coville of Franklin, Mrs. Janet Hill Gordon of Chenango, Richard R. Griffith of Ulster, Richard H. Knauf of Broome, Stanley H. Shaw of Tompkins, Harry J. Tift of Chemung, Wilson C. Van Duzer of Orange, and Orin S. Wilcox of Jefferson.

Charge Inequalities

The bill was passed in the senate by a vote of 51 to 1, but only after four Republican members of that house had assailed the Dewey administration. Three of them, from Westchester, charged inequalities in the allocation of state aid to school districts.

Unanimous approval of both houses was accorded the teacher pay measure following defeat of Democratic amendments to eliminate, statewide, the "promotion" increment feature and to retain New York city's present system of merit raises.

The taxes take effect next January 1, provided the people sanction the bonus in November.

Greeks Say U.N. Team Shot at by Guerrillas

Athens, March 14 (AP)—The Greek press office announced today that a United Nations investigating commission team was fired at by guerrillas today while en route through western Macedonia to Albania. No one was hit.

The announcement said Army units dislodged the guerrillas from mountain heights dominating the road into Kastoria and dispersed them.

The general staff said 42 guerrillas were killed and two wounded in a clash between government troops and insurgents near Larisa and that twelve other guerrillas were killed and nine wounded in minor operations.

Mt. Clemens Case Appealed to Court By Firm's Workers

Detroit, March 14 (AP)—Employees of the Mt. Clemens Pottery Co., today appealed to the Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati the historic decision denying them portal to portal pay.

The move is the first step in any appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court.

Frank A. Picard, U. S. District Judge, denied the pottery employees portal pay last month in a decision that dealt a harsh blow to American labor's nearly $6,000,000 portal pay claim against industry.

He said then that he hoped his decision would eventually be reviewed by the high court in a final test.

Edward Lamb, attorney for the pottery workers, filed notice of the appeal with George M. Read, clerk of the district court here.

Committee Plans Appeal to Dewey To Sign Bridge Act

Chairman Is Empowered to Seek Conference With Governor at Albany

Ulster county members of the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge committee got busy Thursday afternoon and steps were taken at once to make a strong appeal to Governor Thomas E. Dewey to sign the bill authorizing the erection of a bridge across the Hudson, following notice of the passage of the bill.

A meeting of available members of the committee at the Chamber of Commerce office, was called upon receipt of a telegram from Senator Arthur H. Wicks stating that the bill had passed the Legislature.

Frederick J. K. Ertel, chairman for the membership campaign which the committee has conducted for organization of the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge Association, was instructed to contact Senator Wicks at once and make arrangements for a conference between Governor Dewey and a delegation from Ulster and Dutchess counties, within the next few days.

Following action by the committee, William C. Kingman, chairman of the general committee representing the two counties, sent the following telegram to Governor Dewey:

"The will of the people of the state of New York in connection with the Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge has been clearly indicated by the action of the State Legislature for the third consecutive time. We call upon you as chief executive of the state of New York to see that this mandate is fulfilled."

General Chairman Kingman also was authorized to send the following letter to Senator Arthur H. Wicks and Assemblyman John F. Wadlin of Ulster county and Senator

Overheated Motor Causes Fire Scare At Local Hospital

Acrid Fumes Spread Over Building, Frighten 126 Patients; No Ill Effects

Acrid smoke from an overheated motor which caused a fire scare among 126 patients at Kingston Hospital last night, left no noticeable ill effects, Miss Jesse P. Allan, superintendent of the hospital, reported today.

Workmen installed a new motor today to replace the one which had overheated and filled the rear basement section with a dense smoke. The smoke rose to all other floors and reached the maternity ward on the third.

The motor which had operated satisfactorily throughout the day overheated some time after 9 p. m. It had been installed yesterday to operate a large refrigeration unit in the diet kitchen.

Firemen, called at 9:37, removed the motor from the building and conducted a thorough inspection to see that no other fire hazard existed in the basement as a result of the intense heat set up in the motor.

Mrs. Gertrude Haynes, night supervisor of the hospital, notified the fire department as soon as the emergency was discovered. Engines 1, 2 and 3 and trucks 1 and 2 were dispatched as the Wicks Engine Company was notified to stand by. Two lines of hose were laid immediately to offset a possible serious development.

The fire department was called to the building. The patients were less panicky than they had expected and although many were noticeably frightened, all remained calm.

Close to Laundry Chute

The motor had operated near the dishwashing room and was near enough to a laundry chute to facilitate a heavy rise of smoke to other parts of the building.

Miss Allan said this morning that she was on her way back to the building from church when the alarm was sent in and was not far from the hospital when the trucks arrived. She became immediately alarmed when she saw that the call had apparently been sent in for the hospital.

Deputy Chief Sanford, who had taken every precaution in answering the alarm, supervised ventilation of the building.

Deputy Chief James Brett this morning called attention to the fact that nurses at the local hospitals are given special emergency instructions each year by Chief Murphy and that such instructions were satisfactorily fulfilled at the hospital last night.

Baltimore, March 14 (AP)—Because she accepted the help of a seaman who smuggled her into this country and backed out on his promise to marry her, Maria Schroyens Lettieri, 21-year-old brunette, must leave her American husband and return to Belgium.

Federal Judge W. Calvin Chestnut, ruling yesterday on her illegal entry case, found that, "while she hasn't the Spartan type of morality that ought to appeal to young women, her urge to enter the United States is quite reasonable."

Paratrooper Veteran Wins Two Hollywood Oscars, but Will Be His Final Motion Picture

By RALPH DIGHTON

Hollywood, March 14 (AP)—Fredric March was chosen as the best actor of the year, Olivia de Havilland was named the best actress—but handless Harold Russell stole the show at last night's 19th annual presentation of awards by the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences.

Russell, the veteran with the hooks in "The Best Years of Our Lives," which won the "best picture" award, went home with two Oscars tucked under his arm.

His "Best Years" role, his first in motion pictures, brought him academy acclaim as the best supporting actor, and a special award by the Academy's board of directors. The board did not know he would win the supporting award, because results were kept in a sealed envelope until announcements were made from the stage.

It was March's role in "The Best Years of Our Lives," depicting problems of returned veterans, which won him the Oscar, while Miss de Havilland took home the coveted statuette for her performance in "To Each His Own."

March was not present to receive his Oscar. He is in a New York stage production and his statuette was accepted by Cathy O'Donnell, Russell's sweetheart in "Best Years."

Miss de Havilland, gowned in a strapless light blue tulle, said she intended to place her Oscar on a table in her bedroom.

"But I don't know," she said, "whether my husband (Novelist Marcus Goodrich) will object to having another man in my bedroom."

Other major awards went to Anne Baxter, for her supporting role in "The Razor's Edge," and William Wyler, for "Best Years."

Miss de Havilland's sister, Joan Fontaine, former award winner, presented March's Oscar, but she was noticeably absent from the crowd which gathered to congratulate Olivia. Ray Milland, who won an Oscar last year for "The Lost Weekend," presented Olivia's award.

Master of Ceremonies Jack Benny, introducing Milland to the capacity crowd of 6,700 in the Shrine auditorium, said "Phil Harris could have played the 'Lost Weekend' better than Milland—and he'd have found the battle in the chancier society."

Applause and cheers rent the air each time Russell accepted an award. Russell's few, embarrassed words were doubly poignant to the few who knew that "Best Years" was not only the ex-paratrooper's first movie—but his last.

He is on leave of absence from Boston University, where he is studying advertising, until June, and is making a "pep talk" tour of amputee wards in army hospitals. After graduation from college next year, Russell will enter advertising in Samuel Goldwyn's New York office.

Russell, manager of a chain grocery in Cambridge, Mass., before the war, lost his hands when a half-pound of TNT he was carrying exploded at a paratrooper training camp June 6, 1944—the day Allied troops invaded France.

"I won't continue in pictures as an actor," Russell said last night. "After tonight, any movie I could make would be anticlimactic."

Woodstock Water Hearing Scheduled for April 14; Town Accepts New Road

Supervisor Kenneth Wilson Reports Residents' Sentiment to Be Heard; No Opposition Is Anticipated; New Road Given by Victor Cannon

Woodstock, March 14—At a meeting of the town board Thursday night further discussion was held on the new water district project, and the town accepted a new highway that will serve prospective residents of Cannon Center on the Ohayo mountain road.

Supervisor Kenneth Wilson announced after last night's session that a public meeting would be held on petitions for the new water district at Town Hall on Friday night, April 4, at 8 o'clock.

Residents of the town will be heard at the meeting and may express opinions for and against the project.

The road accepted by the town was a gift from Victor Cannon meant to serve purchasers of building sites on a tract of land owned on the Ohayo road.

Homes Are Contemplated

Those who are building or contemplating building homes along the roadway are Eugene F. Guzzi, Carl Hubbell, Arnold Blanch, William B. Ritterbusch, Pheney Dukes, all artists, and Harry M. Prince, prominent New York city architect.

Supervisor Wilson said he anticipated favorable action on the proposed water district. He told a reporter, "We have signers now representing a great many Woodstock property holders interested in seeing the project materialize."

The assessed valuation of the district is $456,000 and signers representing $267,550 worth of that property have signed the petition.

'Comrade Juniper's' Identity Is Kept Secret by Committee

Washington, March 14 (AP)—The House Labor Committee kept secret today the identity of a mysterious "Comrade Juniper" described by ex-Communist Louis Budenz as a "national figure in the news."

Budenz said the man frequently attends top Communist Party strategy councils and public disclosure of his name would have "national political significance."

He said the man is prominent "in labor and outside labor."

Budenz gave the real name of "Comrade Juniper" to the committee at a closed session yesterday. Earlier, he had testified that "Juniper" balked at Communist investigation of labor strikes just before the war, but only because of fear that workers, out of patriotism, might hesitate to respond.

At the same closed session, the committee considered demands by Rep. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) for perjury action against two officials of the C.I.O. United Auto Workers' Union at the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Company in Milwaukee. No decision was announced.

Kennedy asked the committee to

Dewey Chalks Up Clean Sweep for His Major Bills

Teacher Pay, Veterans Bonus, Local Tax Measures Pass at Albany

Albany, N. Y., March 14 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey today chalked up a clean sweep for his major legislative program with passage of the teacher pay bill, the $111,000,000 local tax plan and the measure to finance the veterans' bonus through special levies.

All these bills gained final approval of the Republican-controlled legislature late last night after undergoing the most severe attacks ever hurled against any group of Dewey proposals.

Unanimous approval of both houses was secured as the teachers pay measure following defeat of Democratic amendments to eliminate, statewide, the "promotion" increment feature and to retain New York city's present system of merit raises.

The assembly passed, 103 to 40, the bill to liquidate the proposed $400,000,000 veterans' bonus bond issue in 10 years with an extra one-cent per pack tax on cigarettes and a 20 per cent boost over present income tax payments. ### Committee Plans Appeal to Dewey To Sign Bridge Act

Ulster county members of the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge committee got busy Thursday afternoon and steps were taken at once to make a strong appeal to Governor Thomas E. Dewey to sign the bill authorizing the erection of a bridge across the Hudson, following notice of the passage of the bill.

A meeting of available members of the committee at the Chamber of Commerce office, was called upon receipt of a telegram from Senator Arthur H. Wicks stating that the bill had passed the Legislature.

Frederick J. K. Ertel, chairman for the membership campaign for the committee has conducted for organization of the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge Association, was instructed to contact Senator Wicks at once and make arrangements for a conference between Governor Dewey and a delegation from Ulster and Dutchess counties, within the next few days.

Following action by the committee, William C. Kingman, chairman of the general committee representing the two counties, sent the following telegram to Governor Dewey:

"The will of the people of the state of New York in connection with the Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge has been clearly indicated by the action of the State Legislature for the third consecutive time. We call upon you as chief executive of the state of New York to see that this mandate is fulfilled."

Overheated Motor Causes Fire Scare At Local Hospital

Acrid Fumes Spread Over Building, Frighten 126 Patients; No Ill Effects

Acrid smoke from an overheated motor which caused a fire scare among 126 patients at Kingston Hospital last night, left no noticeable ill effects, Miss Jesse P. Allan, superintendent of the hospital, reported today.

Workmen installed a new motor today to replace the one which had overheated and filled the rear basement section with a dense smoke. The smoke rose to all other floors and reached the maternity ward on the third.

The motor which had operated satisfactorily throughout the day overheated some time after 9 p. m. It had been installed only yesterday to operate a large refrigeration unit in the diet kitchen.

Firemen, called at 9:37, removed the motor from the building and conducted a thorough inspection to see that no other fire hazard existed in the basement as a result of the intense heat set up in the motor.

Mrs. Gertrude Haynes, night supervisor of the hospital, notified the fire department as soon as the emergency was discovered. Engines 1, 2 and 3 and trucks 1 and 2 were dispatched as the Wicks Engine Company was notified to stand by. Two lines of hose were laid immediately to offset a possible serious development.

Firemen reported that the patients were less panicky than they had expected and although many were noticeably frightened, all remained calm.

Woodstock Water Hearing Scheduled for April 14; Town Accepts New Road

Supervisor Kenneth Wilson Reports Residents' Sentiment to Be Heard; No Opposition Is Anticipated; New Road Given by Victor Cannon

Woodstock, March 14—At a meeting of the town board Thursday night further discussion was held on the new water district project, and the town accepted a new highway that will serve prospective residents of Cannon Center on the Ohayo mountain road.

Supervisor Kenneth Wilson announced after last night's session that a public meeting would be held on petitions for the new water district at Town Hall on Friday night, April 4, at 8 o'clock.

Residents of the town will be heard at the meeting and may express opinions for and against the project.

The road accepted by the town was a gift from Victor Cannon meant to serve purchasers of building sites on a tract of land owned on the Ohayo road.

Homes Are Contemplated

Those who are building or contemplating building homes along the roadway are Eugene F. Guzzi, Carl Hubbell, Arnold Blanch, William B. Ritterbusch, Phenve Dukes, all artists, and Harry M. Prince, prominent New York city architect.

Supervisor Wilson said he anticipated favorable action on the proposed water district. He told a reporter, "We have signers now representing a great many Woodstock property holders interested in seeing the project materialize."

The assessed valuation of the district is $450,000 and signers representing $267,550 worth of that property have signed the petition.

Testifies Handwriting Not His on Forms for Sugar Supply

New York, March 14 (AP)—J. Howard Haring, handwriting expert who was employed by New Jersey at the trial of Bruno Hauptmann for the murder of the Lindbergh baby, was called as a defense witness in federal court today at the trial of Harold Gottfried, president of the Pure Food and Mineral Springs Corporation of Ellenville, N. Gottfried and the corporation are charged with filing falsified statements with the O.P.A. in 1942 in which the corporation's

'Comrade Juniper's' Identity Is Kept Secret by Committee

Washington, March 14 (AP)—The House Labor Committee kept secret today the identity of a mysterious "Comrade Juniper" described by ex-Communist Louis Budenz as a "national figure in the news."

Budenz told the committee both Buse and Christoffel were Communists. Both testified at previous hearings that they never were Communist Party members.

"It's unfortunate how some Communists seem to suffer from lapses of memory," Budenz told the committee.

Budenz gave the real name of "Comrade Juniper" to the committee at a closed session yesterday. Earlier, he had testified that "Juniper" balked at Communist investigation of labor strikes just before the war, but only because of fear that workers, out of patriotism, might hesitate to respond.

At the same closed session, the committee considered demands by Rep. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) for perjury action against two officials of the C.I.O. United Auto Workers Union at the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Company in Milwaukee. No decision was announced.

Kennedy asked the committee to

Must Go to Belgium

Baltimore, March 14 (AP)—Because she accepted the help of a seaman who smuggled her into this country and backed out on his promise to marry her, Maria Schroyens Lettieri, 21-year-old brunette, must leave her American husband and return to Belgium.

Federal Judge W. Calvin Chestnut, ruling yesterday on her illegal entry case, found that "while she hasn't the Spartan type of morality that ought to appeal to young women, her urge to enter the United States is quite reasonable."

She was on her way back to the building from church when the alarm was sent in and was not far from the hospital when the trucks arrived. She became immediately alarmed when she saw that the call had apparently been sent in for the hospital.

Deputy Chief Sanford, who had taken every precaution in answering the alarm, supervised ventilation of the building.

Deputy Chief James Brett this morning called attention to the fact that nurses at the local hospitals are given special emergency instructions each year by Chief Murphy and that such instructions were satisfactorily fulfilled at the hospital last night.

Paratrooper Veteran Wins Two Hollywood Oscars, but Will Be His Final Motion Picture

Hollywood, March 14 (AP)—Frederic March was chosen as the best actor of the year, Olivia de Havilland was named the best actress—but handless Harold Russell stole the show at last night's 19th annual presentation of awards by the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences.

Russell, the veteran with the hooks in "The Best Years of Our Lives," won the "best picture" award, went home with two Oscars tucked under his arm.

His "Best Years" role, his first in motion pictures, brought him academy acclaim as the best supporting actor, and a special award by the Academy's board of directors. The board did not know he would win the supporting award, because results were kept in a sealed envelope until announcements were made from the stage.

It was March's role in "The Best Years of Our Lives," depicting problems of returned veterans, which won him the Oscar, while Miss de Havilland took home the coveted statuette for her performance in "To Each His Own."

March was not present to receive his Oscar. He is in a New York production, and his statuette was accepted by Cathy O'Donnell, Russell's sweetheart in "Best Years."

Miss de Havilland, gowned in a strapless light blue tulle, said she intended to place her Oscar on a table in her bedroom.

"But I don't know," she said, "whether my husband (Novelist Marcus Goodrich) will object to having another man in my bedroom."

Other major awards went to Anne Baxter, for her supporting role in "The Razor's Edge," and to the director of "Best Years," William Wyler.

Miss de Havilland's sister, Joan Fontaine, former award winner, presented March's Oscar, but she was noticeably absent from the ceremony which gathered to congratulate Olivia de Havilland, who won an Oscar last year for "The Lost Weekend," presented Olivia's award.

Master of Ceremonies Jack Benny, introducing Millard to the capacity crowd of 6,700 in the Shrine auditorium, said "Phil Harris could have played the 'Lost Weekend' better than Millard—and he'd have found the ball in the exploded net again."

Applause and cheers rent the air each time Russell accepted an award. Russell's few, embarrassed words were doubly poignant to the few who knew that "Best Years" was not only the ex-paratrooper's first movie—but his last.

He is on leave of absence from Boston University, where he is studying advertising, until June, and is making a "pep talk" tour of amputee wards in army hospitals. After graduation from college next year, Russell will enter advertising in Samuel Goldwyn's New York office.

Russell, manager of a chain grocery in Cambridge, Mass., before the war, lost his hands when a half-pound of TNT he was carrying exploded at a paratroop training camp June 6, 1944—the day Allied troops invaded France.

"I won't continue in pictures as an actor," Russell said last night. "After tonight, any movie I could make would be anticlimactic."

Magill, Hanes Urge Tax Slash

Former Treasury Officials Urge 20 Per Cent Reductions

Washington, March 14 (AP)—Two former undersecretaries of the treasury urged the House Ways and Means Committee today to go ahead with plans to slice federal income taxes 20 per cent across the board.

The witnesses—Roswell Magill, lawyer and Columbia University professor, and John W. Hanes, both of New York—served in the treasury in the administration of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Their views, given the committee which is holding hearings on the tax cutting measure sponsored by Chairman Knutson (R-Minn.), directly opposed those of Secretary of the Treasury Snyder, given yesterday.

Magill told the committee that tax relief is necessary to "keep the American system functioning" by renewing incentive for business ventures.

Hanes said that "we can continue to disregard the interest of the taxpayer only with the greatest peril," as he supported the cut estimated to benefit taxpayers $3,500,000,000.

They testified after the Republican-controlled committee turned down, 12 to 5, a proposal of Democrats to open the hearings to any witnesses who desired to testify.

The Republicans voted solidly against the motion offered by Rep. Lynch (D-N.Y.), who was supported by four other Democrats.

Russ Nixon, economic subcommittee chairman for the C.I.O. Legislative Committee, issued a statement in the committee room saying the hearings procedure was an effort to "sneak over a soak the average man tax measure."

He said refusal to open the hearings to public witnesses "reveals a fear of public opinion and a flagrant disregard of genuinely democratic legislative procedures."

Suspended Sentences

New York, March 14 (AP)—The owners of Scout, former K-9 war dog, granted a reprieve from a death sentence, received suspended sentences in magistrate court today where they were charged with having abducted the dog from an animal shelter while it was waiting execution. Counsel for Mr. and Mrs. August Marone, who pleaded guilty, told the court "they were prompted by emotion and love for the dog. They realize now it was the wrong thing to do."

Federal Assistance To Be Sought for Kingston Housing

A bid for federal assistance in local housing will be made by Mayor William F. Edmuth as soon as state legislation on the local housing authority is adopted, the mayor said today following Common Council action last night in support of the pending state bill.

The mayor said he would talk with federal housing authorities in New York and in Washington if necessary as soon as the state measure is adopted.

The local resolution, sponsored by Alderman Paul Zucco and Thomas Couglin, was adopted at a special meeting of the councilmen. It will be transmitted to the state legislature where Senator Arthur H. Wicks of Kingston, has introduced a bill to amend the public localities law for creation of the local five-member commission.

Kingston has had a housing commission for a year, the mayor said, but the special action of last night was necessary for state authorization. The state bill was necessary, he explained, before federal aid could be sought.

Dewey Asks $5 Million To Carry on Vet Schools

Albany, N. Y., March 14 (AP)—Governor Dewey today asked the Legislature to appropriate an additional $5,000,000 to carry on "to full fruition" the state's emergency college program for war veterans.

Present facilities are being used to their maximum, Dewey told the Legislature in a special message. "For the colleges to accommodate more students than are now enrolled, additional facilities must be provided."

"There is no way for the colleges and universities to meet this added burden without further assistance from the state."

New York Man Held In Theft of Hurd Car

New York, March 14 (Special)—Charged with stealing a car parked on a New York street Saturday by Melvin Hurd of Clintondale, Thomas Canning, 26, of 354 West 34th street, New York, was held in $2,000 bail for grand jury action here Thursday.

Canning was held after examination in Felony Court before Magistrate Morris Rothenberg, during which Hurd said he parked his car on 31st street here at 9:30 p.m. Friday and returned early the next morning to find it gone. The vehicle was a 1946 Buick valued at $2,000.

Detective Edward Welling of the 14th squad said Canning was arrested in Poughkeepsie while allegedly driving the car.

Tax Bill Killed

Albany, N. Y., March 14 (AP)—The Assembly today killed a Democratic bill to permit state income taxpayers to deduct the amount of their federal income levy on the state return. The measure, sponsored by Democrat Louis Bennett of the Bronx, was recommended to committee by a voice vote upon the motion of Lee B. Mailler, Republican majority leader.

Wicks Introduces Bill To Pay for Rabies Deaths

A bill aimed at indemnification payments for damages to livestock caused by rabies was introduced by State Senator Arthur H. Wicks of Kingston to the Albany committee. It was referred to the committee on Finance.

The bill which would become law April 1, empowers the boards of supervisors in each county to levy and collect such sums as "shall be necessary to pay indemnification" for damages resulting from the disease.

Each county will be entitled to 50 per cent reimbursement by the state for such moneys paid out under terms of the bill. The law would remain in effect until March 31, 1948.

The bill introduced as an amendment to the agriculture and markets law was presented as a "temporary emergency" measure because present losses of livestock in some areas "threaten to impair the agricultural economy of the communities affected."

President Relaxes On Doctor's Order; Staff Keeps Busy

Key West, Fla., March 14 (AP)—President Truman took things easy while members of his staff kept him abreast of reaction to his Congressional message demanding an end to Communist expansion.

The President, obeying to the letter his physicians' prescription of rest and sunshine, "loafed" at the big frame home of the submarine commandant here.

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross told reporters the executive has heard no official reaction from world capitals, including his secretary of state at Moscow.

However, Ross asserted, Mr. Truman is "gratified" by American, including press, reaction to his Wednesday speech to a joint session of Congress.

Jury Rules Mrs. Martin Can't Collect for Fall

A no cause of action verdict was arrived at a few minutes after the jury had retired to consider the evidence in the action brought by Mrs. Carrie Martin of Kingston against Mountain View Coach Lines, Inc., a negligence action tried Thursday in Supreme Court.

Plaintiff contended she had suffered injuries while alighting from a bus at Highland. She fell while stepping from the bus and alleged negligence on the part of the company for not having someone present to assist passengers from the bus.

The defense did not offer any testimony but rested in the cross examination of plaintiff's witnesses.

A few minutes after the jury had retired the verdict was reached and after reporting court was adjourned until Monday at 10 o'clock.

Struck on Road

Ozkosi was unable to tell what type of vehicle struck him or just how the accident happened. He was taken to Vassar Hospital where later his condition was reported as fair. The extent of his injuries has not been ascertained.

Woman Is Hit By Hit-Run Car

Sleightsburgh Resident Was Walking on 9W; Taken to Local Hospital

Mrs. Mary Bridge of Sleightsburgh was struck by a hit-and-run driver about 7:30 p.m., Thursday while she was walking with her daughter along 9W, just below the intersection of 9W and the Sleightsburgh road. The driver of the car failed to stop after knocking Mrs. Bridge to the side of the road and continued on his way toward Kingston.

Floyd Barringer of Esopus happened along shortly after the accident and picked Mrs. Bridge up and took her to the Kingston Hospital. She was reported as being in "apparently fair" condition this noon and it is understood that her injuries are not serious.

Joseph Albright of Port Jervis had just driven his truck into his yard when he heard Mrs. Bridge's daughter cry out, he told Under-Sheriff Stanley Winne later in the evening. Albright said that he saw a black sedan weave along the highway and then drive on. He also reported that another car, which was following the sedan closely, went on without stopping to investigate what had happened.

There was no report to the sheriff's office immediately following the accident and it was not until 8:15 that Barringer, who had been contacted at the hospital, called at the office and told what little he knew about the affair.

It was raining hard at the time of the accident and by the time the accident was reported any possible clues as to the identity of the hit-and-run car had been obliterated.

estimated consumption of sugar for 1941 allegedly was inflated.

Gottfried, Joseph M. Forman, former corporation counsel of Kingston, N. Y., and William T. Stanton of Kingston, a former O.P.A. investigator in Albany, are on trial under another indictment alleging a conspiracy to deprive the government of Stanton's impartial services by means of bribery.

Haring testified that in his opinion the O.P.A. forms filed by the Pure Rock Corporation were not in the handwriting of Gottfried, but were prepared and written by some other person.

It is the contention of Assistant U. S. Attorney Frederick H. Block that Gottfried had knowledge of the contents of the statement submitted to the O.P.A., and which allegedly was false.

Gottfried, who was a lieutenant in the Coast Guard at the time the statements were filed, has testified that the statements were prepared in the office of the Ellenville corporation and were forwarded to him for his signature.

On the final day for filing the form, Gottfried testified, he was informed by the Ellenville office staff, over the telephone, that the form would have to be signed before a member of the Ellenville corporation board and that he then testified that the statements were prepared in the office of the Ellenville corporation and were forwarded to him for his signature.

Senator Wicks testified that he knew Forman for about 32 years and that Forman's reputation as a lawyer in Kingston and as a former Democratic county chairman of Ulster county, "was exceptionally good."

The senator said that he was a Republican and "the only thing I have against Forman is that he is a Democrat," the testimony being given in a jovial manner.

Yesterday, George Kaufman, former surrogate of Ulster county, and Andrew Cook, former judge of Ulster county, testified as character witnesses for Forman, each stating that they had known Forman for many years and that he bore an excellent reputation.

Speedy Action

the reaction to President Truman's speech overshadowed the plodding progress of the Big Four foreign ministers on the German peace treaty; they could not seem to skip old arguments. Germany still appeared the main key to basic East-West relations.

A writer in Pravda, Communist Party newspaper, today urged the Big Four to make a treaty "with Germany" rather than dictate a treaty "to" Germany.

This line of Soviet policy, seeking early creation of a centralized German government, is in opposition to British and American Federalization plans.

Another commentary, in Izvestia, the Russian government newspaper, declared that "all sincere peace lovers desire success" for the Ministers' Council and assailed pessimists who foresee failure.

Collections for Bishop's Relief For War Victims

Will Be Taken Sunday
in Catholic Churches;
Statement Issued by Dean Drury

Sunday morning, March 16 in the Catholic Churches collections will be taken up for the Bishop's Relief Campaign for Victims of War. In connection with the raising of funds for the Bishop's Relief, the Very Rev. Msgr. M. J. Drury, dean of Ulster and Sullivan counties and pastor of St. Mary's, Kingston, has issued the following statement endorsing the campaign:

"The war seems very far in the past for us. We have forgotten the fear and terror of it all. Most of us, thank God, have our loved ones home again. Wartime restrictions have been lifted and we have our lavish meals once more; we can travel across a prosperous and beautiful countryside; we can dress, if we please, in expensive clothes.

But for millions of men, women and children in Europe and Asia, the war is still going on. The terror has not ceased for them. They are still fighting—fighting disease, homelessness and starvation and unless they receive help, theirs will be a losing battle. From reliable authorities who have visited these barren, war-ravaged countries, we hear terrible reports. They tell how whole families are forced to huddle together in cellars, living in the worst possible conditions, with no heat, no light, no sanitation. For want of decent, warm clothing, people tie burlap around their feet, wear newspapers and old rags. Most pitiful of all are the little children. At seven, they have the look of seventy; either they will grow up crippled by disease or they will die—of starvation.

"We cannot go to Europe or to Asia personally to help these poor unfortunate victims of war. But we have no right to forget them, not while there are charitable agencies anxious to alleviate their suffering. Two of them—the Bishop's Emergency Relief Committee and War Relief Services—National Catholic Welfare, are making a joint appeal for funds during the week of March 16 to 22. They have a splendid record of relief work.

YOU'VE got the sun in the morning and the moon at night — just like everybody else.

You've got little roads to explore, and pleasant places to go, and nice friends to enjoy life with, just as others do.

But there's one thing you can have that not everyone else can — if you do something about it.

It's in the extra lift you find in traveling in car-styling as fresh as tomorrow's morning glories, enduring as the classic lines of a Grecian vase.

It's in roaming the quiet little roads — or the busy big ones — with plenty of eager horsepower under your bonnet, all ready to Fireball you along or drift you serenely through calm and quiet moments.

It's in the feel of a car that's really big enough. Roomy enough for three-a-seat — husky and solid enough to be ever steady in its stride — stout enough to take the most rugged going.

It's in such plus-values as soft coil springs on all four wheels — bodies studiously mounted to be quiet and firm and true — a wheel light yet firm under your hand — an engine with the touch of perpetual youth in the fineness of its cylinder-wall finish.

In a word, it's in a Buick — style star and standout performer of this and many a season to come.

In a car bought not alone out of need or expediency — but, plainly and frankly out of desire for something a bit better than the ordinary.

We say not everyone can have such.

That is simply because there's never enough of a most wanted thing to go round — and this is America's most wanted car.

To get it, you can't hang back. You have to get in ahead of the one who hesitates.

The moral plainly is: Order yours right now!

FIRE LOSS INCREASES

The appalling fire loss record in the United States is continuing its upward climb. In January the loss was over fifty-seven million dollars, an increase of fourteen per cent over the same month last year. In December more than fifty-eight million dollars worth of property went up in smoke.

What this means is that there is no end to human carelessness, human ignorance, human failure to take the simplest, most vital precautions. There is no magic or mystery to fire prevention. There is nothing difficult about it. It is, so far as the home owner is concerned, a matter of replacing a frayed lamp cord in time, having heating equipment inspected, treating gasoline, cleaning solvents and other inflammables with the respect they deserve and carting junk out of attics and basements and closets.

The fact that some ninety per cent of all fires are unnecessary and could easily have been prevented, amplifies the tragedy. Almost all of the 10,000 people who die by fire this year, unless the trend changes, will die in vain. They will be charred, horrible monuments to our stupidity.

The problem faces us all. We have it in our power to control fire. And we have it in our power to let fire rage unchecked.

The present year will see 5,000,000 new cars made if the manufacturers' hopes are realized. Don't start cheering now, however; a like prediction was made for 1946, and the reality fell far short.

"What I want to hear," says a tough guy, "is the impact of a peace pact."

AGENT FOR THE CONSUMER

Business magazines have recently featured many articles on the efforts of American retailers to obtain better goods at lower prices. And that is a story of direct interest to every consumer, and to every man's pocketbook, in these days of depreciated dollars.

Retailers are convinced that prices for many kinds of goods are too high—that it is possible to give more for the money. They are taking that attitude in their dealings with manufacturers. They are watching the pennies as well as the dollars.

The purpose of all this is to better serve and please a public which is beginning to buy carefully and in minimum amounts. The buyer for a retail store thus becomes, in effect, the agent of the consumer. His interest is the consumer's interest. He knows that there are two gauges of values for anything, price and quality. And what he is after is the most quality at the least price.

Manufacturers must pass on the increased labor and other costs of the time. But what retailers are doing is to see that the increase is held to the lowest figure and that, when possible, reductions in price will be made. That is a tremendous service to us all.

One hundred thousand Americans were killed by accidents in 1946, according to the National Safety Council.

Games are supposed to be a mild substitute for fighting, but it doesn't always work that way.

MODERN SLAVES

It is startling to realize that almost two years after the defeat of Germany, more than five millions of her citizens are held in foreign lands as prisoners of war. In most cases the former German soldiers are at work rebuilding homes, schools, churches and factories that the German armies destroyed.

Russia and France, who have the majority of them, having been badly treated by the Germans, and being short of labor, are reluctant to return the Germans. The United States is exerting moral pressure to have the Germans returned to their homeland.

What a horrible commentary on war is this figure of more than five million human beings held against their will and forced to do hard labor in strange countries. It is akin,

THE BRITISH EMPIRE

The British Empire consisted of two generalized categories of nations: 1. Those that had emerged as independent states, capable of conducting their own affairs, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, the Union of South Africa, and Eire; 2. Difficult and pesterous areas that are often in turmoil, always a drain upon England and the focus of other nations' anxieties and ambitions. The second category includes India, the Malay States, Borneo, the Dutch East Indies (ostensibly part of the Netherlands Empire but actually British economically), the Congo, Egypt, the Sudan, the Near East (in fact, most of the Arab world), Spain, Portugal, and Greece, and spots here and there upon the earth's surface.

It is a curious complex of nations, lacking homogeneity in any respect, including a multitude of races and religions and a variety of cultural and political developments. It was held together not by adoration for the British Crown but by the Pound Sterling. The British trader, engineer and entrepreneur was, for several centuries, unequalled by any other. He opened mines, created great plantations for the growth of raw materials, set up markets and evolved the banking, shipping, insurance, communications and marketing facilities to keep the wares of the world moving in all directions. Whereas the Pax Romana was a product of military force, the Pax Britannica was financial, industrial and commercial.

Three nations in the Twentieth Century combated Britain's power: the United States, Germany and Japan, and of these the United States was the strongest and most effective. During the Eighteenth and Nineteenth centuries, England held a virtual monopoly in the formation of capital for the development of the world's resources and the marketing of wares. But in the Twentieth Century the capacity of the United States to form reservoirs of capital became so much greater that even Great Britain became a borrower of American capital. The American dollar replaced the Pound Sterling as the principal currency of international relations. Great Britain fought back with the Sterling Bloc and Empire Preference and the cartelization of products but British political policy conflicted with British economic policy.

From the standpoint of Great Britain's economic empire, it would have been wise during the Four-Year War (1914-18) for Great Britain to have been in alliance with Germany and Japan. Such an alliance would have made Germany and Japan industrial areas dependent upon Britain's financial strength. True, in time they would have sought financial independence, but not in as short a time as it took two wars to make Great Britain a dependent of the United States.

This economic policy Britain rejected in favor of a political alliance with France and Russia and the United States. The Russian Revolution, the incompetence of France in a modern world and the overwhelming economic strength of the United States weakened the British Empire. Sentimentally, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, and the Union of South Africa supported the mother country. Sentimentally, the United States has maintained England through two wars and the intervening period to the tune of tens of billions of dollars of direct and indirect aid.

First went Eire; then Egypt with the Suez Canal in danger. Now, India has gone and the British power in China, centering on Hongkong and Shanghai, is lost. Fearful of American public opinion, Great Britain deserted Spain, which means that her position in the Mediterranean is in peril, for that position is wholly dependent upon Gibraltar and a friendly Iberian Peninsula, just as Britain's seapower in the Southern Atlantic is dependent upon a friendly control of the Azores. And the organization of the Arab League by Franklin D. Roosevelt was a fierce blow.

The final blow is Greece. If Greece is withdrawn from the British sphere of influence in favor of the United States or Soviet Russia, it means that British authority in the Eastern and Central Mediterranean is gone. Turkey, Palestine, Iran, Iraq, Egypt, and the Suez Canal—Britain's so-called lifeline to India—will be in other hands, which may be merciful or unmerciful.

Thus, the role of Empire wears its way. Of all Empires, the British served best, harmed least, gave man most. Its passing will be mourned when the full meaning of it is realized.

JUVENILE DELINQUENCY

As we grow older it is the natural thing to believe that the younger generation are less respectful to parents, less studious, steal and lie more often than we did at their age. This has always been the case and likely always will be.

However, following World War I and World War II there was and is more delinquency—disobedience, truancy, stealing—than at any time in previous history. That the war is entirely to blame for this increase in delinquency can be questioned according to the belief of Dr. Aloysius S. Church, Lincoln, N. Y., as stated in New York State Medical Journal. Dr. Church believes that stealing, lying, truancy and disobedience are expressions of faulty living and adjustment to life. In the realm of nutrition—food and eating habits—the physician can do much for these delinquents and therefore for the community.

"Irritability, moodiness, lack of cooperation and 'meanness' are listed by many writers as symptoms of slight vitamin B deficiency." Where there is much deficiency of vitamin B there is a 'don't care' feeling, together with depression and poor emotional balance.

Of 750 boys aged 11 to 17 admitted to an institution for delinquents 80 per cent showed signs of malnutrition. "Most delinquent children crave food, steal money for it, and eat it rapidly and this rapid eating may bring on stomach and intestinal complaints."

Some children suffer with defective vision and hearing and as this prevents them keeping up with others in the school room they play truant, and get into trouble while away from school. Sometimes a prolonged illness or frequent illnesses interfere with school work and they lose interest.

Another point made by Dr. Church which may not be known is that where there is a tendency toward epilepsy, even if attacks are not present, the children become quarrelsome, stubborn and resent criticism. This condition can be discovered by examination by the encephalograph, which measures brain movements as electrocardiograph measures heart movements.

The thought then is that as much of the present day delinquency is due to physical conditions, physicians, dentists and psychiatrists should examine a "bad" boy before or after he is committed to an institution.

certainly, to the enslavement of the conquered practiced by victors in ancient times. The sins of Hitlerism are certainly falling on the heads of these Nazis.

BABSON on BUSINESS

LUXURY TAXES

Babson Park, Florida, March 14—Much as we may dislike sticking our noses into other people's affairs, it becomes a necessity, under present conditions. We are sending relief in one form or another all over the world. We supplied 72% of the U.N.R.R.A. funds and goods. Many instances we found administrative personnel of other nations using these relief supplies to their political advantage.

With the end of U.N.R.R.A. this month a new plan is proposed whereby the U.S. supplies only 37% (half well over half) of the funds. For this purpose, President Truman has asked for an additional $350,000,000 with which to stave off the specter of starvation in Austria, Greece, Hungary, Poland, Italy and China. However, the State Department says that in this undertaking we ourselves, will administer our own funds.

Can We Afford It? The world calls upon our resources, to the estimated sum of about $4,000,000,000, at a time when we need to put our own financial affairs in order. We have loaned to France, Poland, England and others. England once sent money and goods all over an Empire, and it has nearly bled her.

England now owes nearly billion dollars to Canada, the U.S. and other nations besides the billions which she owes her own people. Now, near economic collapse, she still has interests all over the world. Who will do the policing and protecting of the loans and investments? Will the United States step in everywhere Britain feels she must step out?

Italy and Greece might have turned to England for assistance. But, under the circumstances, they are asking of the U.S. Italy's government warns us of the Communist danger in the offering. The U.S. does not provide the Italians with more aid in food and money. Certainly, we are between two fires: If we don't loan, Europe will go Communist; while if we loan too much, unemployment will develop in the U.S. and strengthen Communism here at home.

Self Reliance—An Ideal

It would be unhealthy for any nation to acquire the feeling that it can always turn to us for material aid. A nation strengthens itself as it works out its own difficulties. The savings of war made it necessary for the United States to send food to many nations. Germany, Austria, India and China are among the most hungry today, having more than a 20 per cent cut in their normal diet. They are worse off than France, Italy or even Greece.

Among the defeated nations it is important to create domestic self-sufficiency lest they become a permanent drain on the resources of others. MacArthur is wisely asking Washington to allow the Japanese funds for enough shipbuilding to permit a revival of their fishing industry. He also believes that limitations on Japanese industry should be lifted, to help Japan work toward domestic self-sufficiency at least.

How to Raise Needed Funds

The real question is not whether we send these hundreds of millions abroad as Ex-President Hoover recommends. We simply need to find a way to get the world to gang up against us. In the U.S., cannot long continue living the "life of Riley" while the rest of the world is on the verge of starvation. The only question facing us today is how this money should be raised.

The answer to me is very simple. Increase the luxury taxes on liquor, tobacco, night club, expensive clothing, jewelry, etc. This will both give the necessary funds and put some sense into our people. Some will say such increased taxes would throw a few of our people temporarily out of work. Perhaps so; but I doubt it. Besides we are short of labor to make for us today the essentials which we are lacking—in needed food, clothing and shelter.

meet on Thursday afternoon of this week at 2:30 at the home of Mrs. Charles Jenkins. Mrs. Elwood Powell will lead the devotion and Mrs. Wilbur J. Van Wyck will present the topic "Our Mission in Chiapas."

The women of the New Hurley congregation are invited to attend a missionary meeting at the Dutch Reformed Church in Newburgh, N. Y., at 2:30 o'clock. Miss Ruth Ransom, secretary for women's work of the Board of Foreign Missions, will be guest speaker.

The Ladies' Aid Society will hold an all-day quilting at the home of Mrs. Edward Powell and sister Tuesday, March 25. Letters to The Editor must bear the name of the writer. Communications must be free of libel and personal attacks upon individuals as such. Only original communications addressed to The Freeman will be printed.

Port Ewen, New York
March 11th, 1947.
Editor, The Freeman:

Milk and Bread
What is back of all this monkey business? I'm referring to two basic foods of every American diet, namely, milk and bread. In regard to milk, about a year ago, the price of milk jumped in New York city and overnight almost, the dealers here raised their price, saying that they had to conform with New York city's price rise.

Well, the people took that with a grain of salt and paid the increase. A short time ago, the price of milk dropped in New York city. Consumers thought the price would drop again here. What happened? Did the price come down? Oh no. The milk dealers say they cannot afford to bring the price down, and yet they were pleased to raise the price when New York city did. There is an old saying, "That it is a poor rule that doesn't work both ways." That rule still holds good and applies to the milk dealers.

Now, in regard to bread. Last spring the price went up and the weight per loaf went down or from three to four slices per loaf. Of course, we were told by officials that wheat was scarce, the people of Europe needed it and just as soon as the harvest was gathered the weight would be increased. Well, you know as well as I that the weight of bread hasn't been increased, and yet the wheat harvest for 1947 was the largest in history. Now this spring we hear the same old story. Wheat is scarce. Europe needs more. Wheat prices are going up and at this writing, the price has increased one cent per loaf and they say that it will still go higher. The consumers' dollar each week buys less as prices continue to rise. This isn't the American way of life. This is just plain monkey business.

Let's put a stop to it. Yours very truly,
EDWIN H. HUMMELL

Russian Move to Examine United States Action on Greece and Turkey Expected in United Nations

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 14—As soon as Congress acts in support of President Truman's request for authority and funds to help Greece and Turkey, a Russian effort to have the whole problem examined by the United Nations may be confidently expected.

The U. N. can be a convenient instrument or vehicle of delay, and it can also be a means of executing a graceful retreat. The Russian contention will be that the plight of Greece is not the concern of just the United States but of other nations as well.

Another development which should occasion no surprise is the making of an informal agreement between Secretary Marshall and the Soviet Government during his stay in Moscow. Such an agreement might be world-wide in scope and encompass not only Near Eastern policy but Far Eastern questions and possibly be related to a settlement of German matters which are perhaps more vital to Russia than Greece or any other collateral controversies.

For some time it has been evident that the United States and Russia must either come to an understanding on world questions or drift into a state of hostilities. The latter is even more feared by Russia than by America, but Moscow has pursued a policy of forcing the issue in every part of the world in order to accumulate incidents to trade against one another in an over-all settlement.

It has been a matter of concern in Washington lest Secretary Marshall find himself maneuvered into a position where he would be compelled to make concessions to Russia in order to get a world settlement. The nature of those concessions, it has been believed, would bear more on the continued control of at least 30 per cent of German industry by Russia than anything else.

Russia would, of course, control whatever type of government that Germany has for many years to come if Moscow controls any substantial segment of the economic life of the German people.

Russia wants 30 per cent of the Austrian economy, too. It would the church work and civic business.

Local Laborite Condemns Foreign Policy of Country

In a telegram to President Truman, Morris Friedman of 95 Green street, chairman of the American Labor Party in Ulster county, condemned the U. S. foreign policy as regards Greece and Turkey, calling it a "new form of aggression."

His communication to Washington, dated March 13, follows:

President Truman
White House
Washington, D. C.

"Circumvention of U. N. by our new foreign policy will ultimately threaten the peace of the world. As chairman of the American Labor Party of Ulster county, I am gravely shocked by our new imperialistic venture into Greece and Turkey. We have turned from the one world of Franklin Delano Roosevelt and Wendell Wilkie to this new form of aggression. I deplore and condemn this action."

Cooper of A.P. Named Press Freedom Chairman

Chicago, March 14 (AP)—Kent Cooper, executive director and general manager of the Associated Press, has been appointed chairman of the World Freedom of the Press Committee of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalists' fraternity.

Cooper has been an advocate of world press freedom for 32 years, and worked to obtain the inclusion of a freedom of the press provision in the Versailles Treaty, although the provision was denied. He succeeded in having freedom of the press declarations inserted in both the Republican and Democratic platforms of 1944, and his work resulted in adoption of a Congressional resolution calling for such freedom.

Wallace Believes Truman Stand May Boost Communism

New York, March 14 (AP)—Henry A. Wallace, former cabinet member, predicts that the policy advocated by President Truman in his speech to Congress Wednesday "will spread Communism in Europe and Asia."

"When President Truman proclaims the worldwide conflict between east and west, he is telling the Soviet leaders that we are preparing for eventual war," the editor of New Republic magazine said in a radio broadcast (N.B.C.) last night.

"Russia may be poor and unprepared for war but she knows very well how to reply to Truman's declaration of economic and financial pressure," Wallace said.

"All over the world Russia and her ally poverty will increase the pressure against us. Who among us is ready to predict that in this struggle American dollars will outlast the grievances that lead to communism?"

"I certainly don't want to see Communism spread. I predict that Truman's policy will spread Communism in Europe and Asia. You can't fight something with nothing. When Truman offers unconditional aid to King George of Greece, he is acting as the best salesman Communism ever had."

To authorize loans to Greece and Turkey, Wallace said, "will bring the world nearer to war. To defeat these loans will not bring peace. I recognize that there is grave danger of eventual war in our present policy of drift. All nations are responsible for this drift to war; all nations must work together for peace."

Agreement Signed For Military Bases In the Philippines

Manila, March 14 (AP)—A 99-year agreement providing for five major American military bases and other minor posts in the Philippines was formally signed tonight in the glittering council of state hall of MacLacanan Palace.

The agreement, reached after weeks of negotiations, contains a provision that in the interest of international security any of the bases may be made available to the Security Council of the United Nations.

Ambassador Paul V. McNutt signed for the United States and President Manuel Roxas for the Philippine republic.

The Philippine government announced that under terms of the agreement, the U. S. army will maintain its principal military establishment in the vast Fort Stotsenberg military reservation in Pampanga province of central Luzon. It will serve as chief operating area for that branch of the service.

Ten other areas of limited size were designated as bases.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

Appropriate Name

Kansas City, March 14 (AP)—Fifteen teams organized from fraternities and clubs opened intramural basketball competition at the University of Kansas City last fall.

One organization chose the name of Flounders.

The league is ready for the final week of play and in last place without a victory and with a dozen losses are the Flounders.

Foreign Trimmings

Portland, Ore., March 14 (AP)—The Irish are going to give a St. Patrick's Day dance.

The Place—Norse Hall.

The orchestra—Van Hoomison's.

Letter-Perfect Deal

Alexandria, Minn., March 14 (AP)—Two of Uncle Sam's postmen went all out in the matter of trading.

Spencer Smith, Alexandria rural mail carrier wanted to go to California and Fred G. Schroeder of San Bernardino, Calif., wanted to move to Minnesota.

With permission of the Postoffice Department in Washington, they exchanged jobs. And to prevent any housing problem they swapped houses and furniture, too.

Income Tax Confusion

Chicago, March 14 (AP)—Nigel Campbell, collector of internal revenue, has a pile of mail from taxpayers who enclose notes with their income tax payments.

One man, who claimed a $600 deduction for medical expenses wrote the collector:

"I have been out of city for the last three months. I am traveling for my wife's health."

Help Wanted

Utica, N. Y., March 14 (AP)—Police could find no trace today of a "job-hunting" deer.

The deer jumped through the plate glass window of the Utica Knitting Mills yesterday and landed on the unoccupied desk of Employment Manager Fred Christ.

Forty-five minutes later, the deer went back through the window, past two policemen, jumped over a fence and disappeared.

C.I.O. Tries to Keep Merger Angle Alive

Washington, March 14 (AP)—The C.I.O. tried today to keep the idea of eventual merger with the A.F.L. alive—for the record at least.

There was no indication from the A.F.L. that it would accept, but the C.I.O. executive board again proposed an early meeting to discuss a united attack on labor's problems, and later "organic unity."

The use of this term was an unmistakable concession to the A.F.L.

C.I.O. President Philip Murray, in a letter to A.F.L. President William Green, said the C.I.O. unity committee "awaits word from you as to the date and place for an early meeting."

"It is inconceivable that once we meet we would not, in the face of the stark, pressing danger confronting American labor, determine upon immediate protective measures in addition to engaging in a discussion for the achievement of organic unity," Murray said.

The C.I.O. president told newsmen it was the first time his group had chosen to use the term "organic unity." That was the A.F.L.'s term, and it means consolidation. Green has insisted that there can be no effective cooperation without physical merger of the two groups as a first step.

Murray has taken the position that united action to meet labor's common problems was essential to achieving organic unity.

Thus the latest letter, sent to Green last night, went a step further toward the A.F.L.'s position. AFL leaders, while not questioning that, indicated in their first unofficial reaction that they regard the move as merely a maneuver to put them on the spot.

The United States has issued more than 700 different types of postage stamp.

Collections for Bishop's Relief For War Victims

Will Be Taken Sunday in Catholic Churches; Statement Issued by Dean Drury

Sunday morning, March 16 in the Catholic Churches collections will be taken up for the Bishop's Relief Campaign for Victims of War. In connection with the raising of funds for the Bishop's Relief, the Very Rev. Msgr. M. J. Drury, dean of Ulster and Sullivan counties and pastor of St. Mary's, Kingston, has issued the following statement endorsing the campaign:

"The war seems very far in the past for us. We have forgotten the fear and terror of it all. Most of us, thank God, have our loved ones home again. Wartime restrictions have been lifted and we have our lavish meals once more; we can travel across a prosperous and beautiful countryside; we can dress, if we please, in expensive clothes."

But for millions of men, women and children in Europe and Asia, the war is still going on. The terror has not ceased for them. They are still fighting—fighting disease, homelessness and starvation and unless they receive help, theirs will be a losing battle. From reliable authorities who have visited these barren, war-ravaged countries, we hear terrible reports. They tell how whole families are forced to huddle together in cellars, living in the worst possible conditions, with no heat, no light, no sanitation. For want of decent, warm clothing, people tie burlap around their feet, wear newspapers and old rags. Most pitiful of all are the little children. At seven, they have the look of seventy; either they will grow up crippled by disease or they will die—of starvation.

"We cannot go to Europe or to Asia personally to help these poor unfortunate victims of war. But we have no right to forget them, not while there are charitable agencies anxious to alleviate their suffering. Two of them—the Bishop's Emergency Relief Committee and War Relief Services-National Catholic Welfare, are making a joint appeal for funds during the week of March 16 to 22. They have a splendid record of relief work."

Reach up - and touch a Star

White diamond wheels, as illustrated, will be supplied on extra cost as soon as available.

You've got the sun in the morning and the moon at night - just like everybody else.

You've got little roads to explore, and pleasant places to go, and nice friends to enjoy life with, just as others do.

But there's one thing you can have that not everyone else can - if you do something about it.

It's in the extra lift you find in traveling in car-styling as fresh as tomorrow's morning glories, enduring as the classic lines of a Grecian vase.

It's in roaming the quiet little roads - or the busy big ones - with plenty of eager horsepower under your bonnet, all ready to fireball you along or drift you serenely through calm and quiet moments.

It's in the feel of a car that's really big enough. Roomy enough for three - a seat - husky and solid enough to be ever steady in its stride - stout enough to take the most rugged going.

It's in such plus-values as soft coil springs on all four wheels - bodies studiously mounted to be quiet and firm and true - a wheel light yet firm under your hand - an engine with the touch of perpetual youth in the fineness of its cylinder-wall finish.

In a word, it's in a Buick - style star and standout performer of this and many a season to come.

In a car bought not alone out of need or expediency - but, plainly and frankly out of desire for something a bit better than the ordinary.

We say not everyone can have such.

That is simply because there's never enough of a most wanted thing to go around - and this is America's most wanted car.

To get it, you can't hang back. You have to get in ahead of the one who hesitates.

The moral plainly is: Order yours right now!

FIRE LOSS INCREASES

The appalling fire loss record in the United States is continuing its upward climb. In January the loss was over fifty-seven million dollars, an increase of fourteen per cent over the same month last year. In December more than fifty-eight million dollars worth of property went up in smoke.

What this means is that there is no end to human carelessness, human ignorance, human failure to take the simplest, most vital precautions. There is no magic or mystery to fire prevention. There is nothing difficult about it. It is, so far as the home owner is concerned, a matter of replacing a frayed lamp cord in time, having heating equipment inspected, treating gasoline, cleaning solvents and other inflammables with the respect they deserve and carting junk out of attics and basements and closets.

The fact that some ninety per cent of all fires are unnecessary and could easily have been prevented, amplifies the tragedy. Almost all of the 10,000 people who die by fire this year, unless the trend changes, will die in vain. They will be charred, horrible monuments to our stupidity.

The problem faces us all. We have it in our power to control fire. And we have it in our power to let fire rage unchecked.

The present year will see 5,000,000 new cars made if the manufacturers' hopes are realized. Don't start cheering now, however; a like prediction was made for 1946, and the reality fell far short.

"What I want to hear," says a tough guy, "is the impact of a peace pact."

AGENT FOR THE CONSUMER

Business magazines have recently featured many articles on the efforts of American retailers to obtain better goods at lower prices. And that is a story of direct interest to every consumer, and to every man's pocketbook, in these days of depreciated dollars.

Retailers are convinced that prices for many kinds of goods are too high—that it is possible to give more for the money. They are taking that attitude in their dealings with manufacturers. They are watching the pennies as well as the dollars.

The purpose of all this is to better serve and please a public which is beginning to buy carefully and in minimum amounts. The buyer for a retail store thus becomes, in effect, the agent of the consumer. His interest is the consumer's interest. He knows that there are two guages of values for anything, price and quality. And what he is after is the most quality at the least price.

Manufacturers must pass on the increased labor and other costs of the time. But what retailers are doing is to see that the increase is held to the lowest figure and that, when possible, reductions in price will be made. That is a tremendous service to us all.

One hundred thousand Americans were killed by accidents in 1946, according to the National Safety Council.

Games are supposed to be a mild substitute for fighting, but it doesn't always work that way.

MODERN SLAVES

It is startling to realize that almost two years after the defeat of Germany, more than five millions of her citizens are held in foreign lands as prisoners of war. In most cases the former German soldiers are at work rebuilding homes, schools, churches and factories that the German armies destroyed.

Russia and France, who have the majority of them, having been badly treated by the Germans, and being short of labor, are reluctant to return the Germans. The United States is exerting moral pressure to have the Germans returned to their homeland.

What a horrible commentary on war is this figure of more than five million human beings held against their will and forced to do hard labor in strange countries. It is akin,

THE BRITISH EMPIRE

The British Empire consisted of two generalized categories of nations: 1. Those that had emerged as independent states, capable of conducting their own affairs, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, the Union of South Africa, and Eire; 2. Difficult and pesterous areas that are often in turmoil, always a drain upon England and the focus of other nations' anxieties and ambitions. The second category includes India, the Malay States, Borneo, the Dutch East Indies (ostensibly part of the Netherlands Empire but actually British economically), the Congo, Egypt, the Sudan, the Near East (in fact, most of the Arab world), Spain, Portugal, and Greece, and spots here and there upon the earth's surface.

It is a curious complex of nations, lacking homogeneity in any respect, including a multitude of races and religions and a variety of cultural and political developments. It was held together not by adoration for the British Crown but by the Pound Sterling. The British trader, engineer and entrepreneur was, for several centuries, unequalled by any other. He opened mines, created great plantations for the growth of raw materials, set up markets and evolved the banking, shipping, insurance, communications and marketing facilities to keep the wares of the world moving in all directions. Whereas the Pax Romana was a product of military force, the Pax Britannica was financial, industrial and commercial.

Three nations in the Twentieth Century combat Britain's power: the United States, Germany and Japan, and of these the United States was the strongest and most effective. During the Eighteenth and Nineteenth Centuries, England held a virtual monopoly in the formation of capital for the development of the world's resources and the marketing of products. The British Empire's capacity of capital became so much greater that even Great Britain became a borrower of American capital. The American dollar replaced the Pound Sterling as the principal currency of international relations. Great Britain fought back with the Sterling Bloc and Empire Preference and the cartelization of products but in financial political policy conflicted with British economic policy.

From the standpoint of Great Britain's economic empire, it would have been during the Four-Year War (1914-18) for Great Britain to have been in alliance with Germany and Japan. Such an alliance would have made Germany and Japan industrial superpowers in the world, for their strength. True, in time they would have sought financial independence, but not in as short a time as it took two wars to make Great Britain a dependent of the United States.

This economic policy Britain rejected in favor of a political alliance with France and Russia and the United States. The Russian Revolution, the incompetence of France in the world and the overwhelming economic strength of the United States weakened the British Empire. Sentimentally, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, and the Union of South Africa supported the mother country. Sentimentally, the United States has maintained England through two wars and the intervening period to the detriment of tens of billions of dollars of direct and indirect aid.

First went Eire; then Egypt with the Suez Canal in danger. Now, India has gone and the British power in China, centering on Hongkong and Shanghai, is lost. Fearful of American public opinion, Great Britain deserted Spain, which means that her position in the Mediterranean is in peril, for that position is wholly dependent upon Gibraltar and a friendly Iberian Peninsula, just as Britain's seapower in the Southern Atlantic is dependent upon a friendly control of the Azores. And the organization of the Arab League by Franklin D. Roosevelt was a fierce blow.

The final blow is Greece. If Greece is withdrawn from the British sphere of influence in favor of the United States or Soviet Russia, it means that Britain's authority in the Eastern and Central Mediterranean is gone. Turkey, Palestine, Iran, Iraq, Egypt, and the Suez Canal—Britain's so-called lifeline to India—will be in other hands, which may be merciful or unmerciful.

Thus the role of Empire wends its way. Of all Empires, the British served best, harmed least, gave man most. Its passing will be mourned when the full meaning of it is realized.

JUVENILE DELINQUENCY

As we grow older it is the natural thing to believe that the younger generation are less respectful to parents, less studious, steal and lie more often than we did at their age. This has always been the case and likely always will be.

However, following World War I and World War II there was and is more delinquency—disobedience, truancy, stealing—than at any time in previous history. That the war is entirely to blame for this increase in delinquency can be questioned according to the belief of Dr. Alexis S. Church, Lincoln, N. Y., as stated in New York State Medical Journal, Dr. Church believes that stealing, lying, truancy and disobedience are expressions of faulty living and adjustment to life. In the realm of nutrition—food and eating habits—the physician can do much for these delinquents and therefore for the community.

"Irritability, moodiness, lack of cooperation and 'meanness' are listed by many writers as symptoms of slight vitamin B deficiency." Where there is such deficiency of vitamin B there is a 'don't care' feeling, together with depression and poor emotional balance.

Of 750 boys aged 11 to 17 admitted to an institution for delinquents 80 per cent showed signs of malnutrition. Most delinquent children crave food, steal money for it, and eat it rapidly and this rapid eating may bring on stomach and intestinal complaints.

Some children suffer with defective vision and hearing and as this prevents them keeping up with others in the school room they play truant, and get into trouble while away from school. Sometimes a prolonged illness or frequent illnesses interfere with school work and they lose interest.

Another point made by Dr. Church which may not be known is that where there is a tendency toward epilepsy, even if attacks are not present, the children become quarrelsome, stubborn and resent criticism. This condition can be discovered by examination by the cephalograph, which measures brain movements as electrocardiograph measures heart movements.

Dr. Church says that as much of the present day delinquency is due to physical conditions, physicians, dentists and psychiatrists should examine a "bad" boy before or after he is committed to an institution.

BABSON on BUSINESS

LUXURY TAXES

Babson Park, Florida, March 14.—Much as we may dislike sticking our noses into other people's affairs, it becomes a necessity, under present conditions. We are sending relief in one form or another all over the world. We are spending 72% of the U.N.R.R.A. funds and goods. In many instances we found administrative personnel of other nations using these relief supplies to their political advantage.

With the end of U.N.R.R.A. this month a new plan is proposed whereby the U.S. supplies only 57% (still well over half) of the funds. For this purpose, President Truman has asked for an additional $350,000,000 with which to stave off the specter of starvation in Austria, Greece, Hungary, Poland, Italy and China. However, our State Department says that in this undertaking we, ourselves, will administer our own funds.

Can We Afford It? The world calls upon our resources to the estimated sum of about $4,000,000,000, at a time when we need to put our own financial affairs in order. We have loaned to France, Poland, England and others. England once sent money to Germany. We sent money to China. We sent money to Italy, and it has nearly busted her. England now owes many billions of dollars to Canada, the U.S. and other nations besides the billions which she owes her own people.

Now, near economic collapse, she still has interests all over the world. Who will do the policing and protecting of her loans and investments? Will the United States step in everywhere Britain feels she must step out? Italy and Greece might have turned to England for assistance. But, under the circumstances, they are asking of the U.S. (and its government) things which are a realistic danger in the offing if the U.S. does not provide the Italians with more aid in food and money. Certainly, we are between two fires: If we don't loan, Europe will go Communist; while if we loan too much, unemployment will develop in the U.S. and strengthen Communism here at home.

Self-Reliance—An Ideal It would be unhealthy for any nation to acquire the feeling that it can always turn to the U.S. for material aid. A nation strengthens itself as it works out its own difficulties. The ravages of war have made it necessary for the United States to send food to many nations. Germany, Austria, India and China are among the most hungry today, having more than a 50 per cent curbing of normal diet. They are worse off than France, Italy or even Greece.

Among the defeated nations it is important to create domestic self-sufficiency lest they become a permanent drain on the resources of others. MacArthur is wisely asking Washington to allow the Japanese funds for enough shipbuilding to permit a revival of their fishing industry. He also believes that limitations on Japanese industry should be lifted, to help Japan work toward domestic self-sufficiency at least.

How to Raise Needed Funds The real question is not whether we send these hundreds of millions abroad as Ex-President Hoover comments. We simply must do so or someday the entire world will gang up against us. We, in the U.S., cannot long continue living the "life of Riley" while the rest of the world is on the verge of starvation. The only question facing us today is how this money shall be raised.

The answer to me is very simple—Increase the luxury taxes on liquor, tobacco, night clubs, expensive clothing, jewelry, etc. This will both give the necessary funds and put some sense into our people. Some will say such increased taxes would throw a few of our people temporarily out of work. Perhaps so; but I doubt it. Besides, we are short of labor to make for us today the essentials which we are lacking—in needed food, clothing and shelter.

Russian Move to Examine United States Action on Greece and Turkey Expected in United Nations

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 14—As soon as Congress acts in support of President Truman's request for authority and funds to help Greece and Turkey, a Russian effort to have the whole problem examined by the United Nations may be confidently expected.

The U. N. can be a convenient instrument or vehicle of delay, and it can also be a means of exacting a grudging return to an issue which the Russians will not let the plight of Greece be not the concern of just the United States but of other nations as well.

Another development which should occasion no surprise is the making of an informal agreement between Secretary Marshall and the Soviet Government during his stay in Moscow. Such an agreement might be a worldwide in scope and encompass not only Near Eastern but Far Eastern questions and possibly be related to a settlement of German matters which are perhaps more vital to Russia than Greece or any other collateral controversies.

For some time it has been evident that the United States and Russia are working toward an understanding on world questions or drift into a state of hostilities. The latter is even more feared by Russia than by America, but Moscow has pursued a policy of forcing the issue in every part of the world in order to accumulate incidents to trade against one another in an overall settlement.

It has been a matter of concern in Washington lest Secretary Marshall find himself maneuvered into a position where he would be compelled to make concessions to Russia in order to get a world settlement. The nature of those concessions it has been believed, would be made in the control of at least 30 per cent of German industry by Russia than anything else.

Russia would, of course, control whatever type of government that Germany has for many years to come if Moscow wins any substantial segment of the economic life of the German people.

Russia wants 30 per cent of the Austrian economy, too, it would appear, therefore, that the Soviets would announce their willingness to allow American policy to be exerted for free elections and the holding of the Turkish and Greek economic structures in return for a free hand in Germany and Austria. The Russian demands are presumably related to a desire to collect reparations from Germany and Austria, but actually they are devices by which the Communists would continue to control a major part of what used to be German and Austrian territory.

To understand Russian aspirations in a political sense, it is necessary to evaluate Russian handicaps in an economic sense. To further the domestic economy of Russia, outside factories and technical assistance. The original idea of moving plants to Russia and trying to get the necessary personnel there has proved ineffectual, so Russia is after a stranglehold on German and Austrian industry.

Before Secretary Marshall left here, he was warned about the Russian ambitions and he learned of a division of opinion inside the Department of State as to how these problems might be handled. It seems likely that the secretary of state will give some ground in an effort to produce a settlement of Europe's tangled affairs. It is hoped here that the terms will not be such as to invite attack in relationship to a possible controversy over the future of Germany.

The Russians, incidentally, have retreated before when their worldwide propaganda has been attacked as political infiltration in the domestic concerns of independent countries. Even the propaganda has at times seemed to be utilized as a means of trading off certain nuisance values in an overall diplomatic problem.

The chances are favorable that Russia will receive toward the Truman speech without creating a showdown position publicly, but that behind the scenes the stage will be set for some high-level negotiations of a general European, if not world-wide, settlement. Russia, as well as the United States, cannot afford a strain of an unsettled situation and the Truman message envisaged.

Kiwanis Is Shown Red Cross Picture

The striking picture showing scenes of great disasters of all kinds and the work done by the American Red Cross on such occasions featured the program at the meeting of Kiwanis Thursday noon. G. Wallace Codwise gave a talk preceding the showing and said that the picture was not designed as propaganda, but with the idea of making people disaster conscious and Red Cross conscious.

Of the present campaign to raise a budget of $2,700,000 for the Red Cross, with Ulster county's quota placed at $28,000, Mr. Codwise said that a large share of the money to be raised would be located to disaster relief work. An important part of that work, he said, was the furnishing of speedy information to friends and relatives of those who had been killed or injured in these disasters.

The Ulster County Chapter of the Red Cross with other Chapters throughout the nation, was said to be prepared to play its part in event of any emergency.

President Herbert DeKay emphasized the important meeting on March 20, when Lt. Gov. Leo Byrne will be honored. Presidents, vice presidents, and secretaries of all Kiwanis clubs in the Division will be present and all past lieutenant governors have been invited to attend.

Girl, 13, Undergoes Leg Amputation in Springfield

Springfield, Mass., March 13 (AP)—Thirteen-year-old Joan Marie Stumper's right leg was amputated today—at her own request—so she can "get around" like other girls without crutches.

Dr. Garry de Hough, who performed the operation at Shriners' Hospital said she was "getting along fine."

Joan Marie personally made the decision to undergo amputation after doctors told her that in a few months, with an artificial limb, she could discard the crutches she's used since she was five.

"Do it if it will make me like other children," she bravely told them after thinking it over.

Joan, an honor student at Pittsfield Central Junior High School, suffered a malignant tumor in her leg eight years ago. She broke the leg two years ago and it has never healed.

Dr. de Hough said he anticipated that as a result of the amputation she would be able to play within a reasonable time.

Lunchroom, Clothing, Glasses Discussed

Recommendations for improvements to the school lunchroom, an investigation and probable aid in the matter of clothing for needy children, recognition of a gift from the Kingston Lions Club for the eyeglass fund, and an address by the local scout executive comprised the business of the School 5 Mother's Club meeting Thursday at the school on Wyndhurst Place.

Proposed changes in the lunchroom include the enlargement of the kitchen facilities, and interior decoration. A letter will be sent to the Board of Education.

The eyeglass project was accorded added support at yesterday's meeting when it was revealed the Kingston Lions Club had donated $25 to the eyeglass fund. A letter of appreciation was ordered sent to the club.

D. Gregory Badger, scout executive of the Ulster-Greene Council, Boy Scouts of America, was the guest speaker. Mr. Badger spoke on hobbies in scouting, explaining the value of hobbies to children through the scout merit badge system. ## February Milk Price Is Fixed at $4.57 Per Hundred

New York, March 14 (AP)—Milk delivered to 432 pool-approved plants in the New York metropolitan milk shed during February will bring farmers $4.57 per hundredweight, compared with $3.58 paid a year ago, C. J. Blanford, market administrator, announced today.

The uniform price applies to milk testing 3.5 per cent butterfat. Although the number of producers last month, 45,383, was 1,420 fewer than February, 1946, their production per day was the highest for any February in the history of the federal-state marketing orders, Blanford said. This pushed the month's production to 379,199,552 pounds, an increase of 3.65 per cent over the 365,861,088 pounds produced in February, 1946. Average daily production per dairy was up from 279 pounds to 298.

Farm Jobs Await 26 Couples and 10 Unmarried Men

Dairy and fruit farmers of Ulster county are furnishing favorable opportunities to married couples, as well as to single men, who are seeking employment and homes, Donald R. Munn, farm labor assistant at the Farm Bureau office, said this morning.

Every day, Mr. Munn stated, the office is receiving calls from farmers who are in need of help and who are offering to pay good wages, in addition to furnishing homes and other inducements. Right now, he said, we have on file requests from farmers for 26 couples and ten single men, who have had some farm training, to take positions on dairy or fruit farms.

A considerable number of placements already have been made, Mr. Munn said, adding that in February, the office located six couples on farms, the husband in every case being a returned veteran. With the exception of two jobs, which involve on-the-job training under the G.I. Bill of Rights, wages offered run from $125 to $150 a month, with houses furnished in every instance. Besides this a garden generally is available, with various other considerations, such as milk (on dairy farms), eggs, fruit, etc.

Working Conditions
Wages in the cases of those receiving on-the-job training are $100 a month, in addition to which the government will make allowances up to $90 a month.

The Farm Bureau office also placed eight single men during February, two of whom were veterans. They are receiving an average wage of $70 a month, with room and board.

Among the job opportunities for single men now on file is one where two men are wanted on a dairy farm, at wages of $105 a month, with room and board. This job calls for experienced men however.

Cites Big Wage Raise
Discussing the wages being paid for farm work these days, Mr. Munn observed that it is not too many years ago that $20 to $30 a month, with room and board was the prevailing rate. Preceding the war, he said, about $75 a month was tops.

Preceding his taking the position with the Farm Bureau as farm labor assistant, where he has

Local Laborite Condemns Foreign Policy of Country

In a telegram to President Truman, Morris Friedman of 95 Green street, chairman of the American Labor Party in Ulster county, condemned the U. S. foreign policy as regards Greece and Turkey, calling it a "new form of aggression." His communication to Washington, dated March 13, follows:

"Circumvention of U.N. by our new foreign policy will ultimately threaten the peace of the world. As chairman of the American Labor Party of Ulster county, I am gravely shocked by our new imperialistic venture into Greece and Turkey. We have turned from the one world of Franklin Delano Roosevelt and Wendell Wilkie to this new form of aggression. I deplore and condemn this action."

Cooper of A.P. Named Press Freedom Chairman

Chicago, March 14 (AP)—Kent Cooper, executive director and general manager of the Associated Press, has been appointed chairman of the World Freedom of the Press Committee of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalists' fraternity.

Cooper has been an advocate of world press freedom for 32 years, and worked to obtain the inclusion of a freedom of the press provision in the Versailles Treaty, although the provision was denied. He succeeded in having freedom of the press declarations inserted in both the Republican and Democratic platforms of 1944, and his work resulted in adoption of a Congressional resolution calling for such freedom.

Wallace Believes Truman Stand May Boost Communism

New York, March 14 (AP)—Henry A. Wallace, former cabinet member, predicts that the policy advocated by President Truman in his speech to Congress Wednesday "will spread Communism in Europe and Asia."

"When President Truman proclaims the worldwide conflict between east and west, he is telling the Soviet leaders that we are preparing for eventual war," the editor of New Republic magazine said in a radio broadcast (N.B.C.) last night.

"Russia may be poor and unprepared for war but she knows very well how to reply to Truman's declaration of economic and financial pressure," Wallace said.

"All over the world Russia and her ally poverty will increase the pressure against us. Who among us is ready to predict that in this struggle American dollars will outlast the grievances that lead to communism?"

Agreement Signed For Military Bases In the Philippines

Manila, March 14 (AP)—A 99-year agreement providing for five major American military bases and other minor posts in the Philippines was formally signed tonight in the glittering council of state hall of MacLacanan Palace.

The agreement, reached after weeks of negotiations, contains a provision that in the interest of international security any of the bases may be made available to the Security Council of the United Nations.

Ambassador Paul V. McNutt signed for the United States and President Manuel Roxas for the Philippine republic.

The Philippine government announced that under terms of the agreement, the U. S. army will maintain its principal military establishment in the vast Fort Stotsenberg military reservation in Pampanga province of central Luzon. It will serve as chief operating area for that branch of the service.

The Navy will maintain four operating areas, one in the Leyte-Samar area, centered at Guilan, one at Subic Bay, Luzon, one at Tawitawi near the southern end of the Archipelago, and the fourth at Sangley Point, Cavite. Ten other areas of limited size were designated as bases.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

Appropriate Name

Kansas City, March 14 (AP)—Fifteen teams organized from fraternities and clubs opened intramural basketball competition at the University of Kansas City last fall.

One organization chose the name of Flounders. The league is ready for the final week of play and in last place without a victory and with a dozen losses are—the Flounders.

Foreign Trimmings

Portland, Ore., March 14 (AP)—The Irish are going to give a St. Patrick's Day dance. The Place—Norse Hall. The orchestra—Van Hoomison's.

Letter-Perfect Deal

Alexandria, Minn., March 14 (AP)—Two of Uncle Sam's postmen went all out in the matter of trading.

Spencer Smith, Alexandria rural mail carrier wanted to go to California and Fred G. Schroeder of San Bernardino, Calif., wanted to move to Minnesota.

With permission of the Postoffice Department in Washington, they exchanged jobs. And to prevent any housing problem they swapped houses and furniture, too.

Income Tax Confusion

Chicago, March 14 (AP)—Nigel Campbell, collector of internal revenue, has a pile of mail from taxpayers who enclose notes with their income tax payments.

One man, who claimed a $600 deduction for medical expenses wrote the collector:

"I have been out of city for the last three months. I am traveling for my wife's health."

Help Wanted

Utica, N. Y., March 14 (AP)—Police could find no trace today of a "job-hunting" deer.

The deer jumped through the plate glass window of the Utica Knitting Mills yesterday and landed on the unoccupied desk of Employment Manager Fred Christ.

Forty-five minutes later, the deer went back through the window, past two policemen, jumped over a fence and disappeared.

C.I.O. Tries to Keep Merger Angle Alive

Washington, March 14 (AP)—The C.I.O. tried today to keep the idea of eventual merger with the A.F.L. alive—for the record at least.

There was no indication from the A.F.L. that it would accept, but the C.I.O. executive board again proposed an early meeting to discuss a united attack on labor's problems, and later "organic unity."

The use of this term was an unmistakable concession to the A.F.L. President Philip Murray, in a letter to A.F.L. President William Green, said the C.I.O. unity committee "awaits word from you as to the date and place for an early meeting."

"It is inconceivable that once we meet we would not, in the face of the stark, pressing danger confronting American labor, determine upon immediate protective measures in addition to engaging in a discussion for the achievement of organic unity," Murray said.

The C.I.O. president told newsmen it was the first time his group had chosen to use the term "organic unity." That was the A.F.L.'s term, and it means consolidation. Green has insisted that there can be no effective cooperation without physical merger of the two groups as a first step. Murray has taken the position that united action to meet labor's common problems was essential to achieving organic unity.

Thus the latest letter, sent to Green last night, went a step further toward the A.F.L.'s position. AFL leaders, while not questioning that, indicated in their first unofficial reaction that they regard the move as merely a maneuver to put them on the spot.

The United States has issued more than 700 different types of postage stamps.

Al Hurlibut, Bifilco, Flagg Slated on Boxing Show, March 27

Amateur Favorites Are Paired Against Outstanding Foes

Local boxing fans who cheered themselves hoarse as they watched Al Hurlibut knock out Macklin Howard of New York and Jimmy Brightwell, Oklahoma Golden Glover, will get another look at the Rome, N. Y., middleweight star on B'nai B'rith's next card at the municipal auditorium, Thursday night, March 27.

Dr. Saul Goldfarb, the organization's boxing chairman, today said it was definite Hurlibut would be on the fight bill in an over-the-weight match with Johnny Marchese, 175-pound champion from the Niagara district of the A.A.U.

Two stablemates of Hurlibut are billed to see action on the same ring program—Oliver Phillips and Frankie Bifilco, who lost unpopular decisions in bouts here several weeks ago.

Bifilco, a rapid fire bantam, according to many who saw the scrap, was robbed out of a decision when he boxed Carmine Virgilio of Poughkeepsie, and Phillips climbed out of the ring amid boisterous cheers although he was declared the loser to Mike Sallie, Schenectady puncher.

Hurlibut is not the only Roman on the March 27 card. Frankie Dolenti, a lightweight and Alex Ashley, flyweight, are on the list.

Five Rounders Listed

Here's how the five-round features shape up:

Al Hurlibut, Rome, vs. Johnny Marchese, Buffalo light-heavyweight.

Frankie Bifilco, Rome vs. Roosevelt Flagg, Albany featherweight.

Frankie Dolenti, Rome vs. Oliver Phillips, Buffalo lightweight.

Alex Ashley, Rome vs. Sammy "Peanuts" Spadaro, Albany flyweight.

Hurlibut, a Golden Gloves champion as far back as 1941, is one of the stiffest punchers ever seen in action at the auditorium, and his two knockouts to date have established him as one of the biggest favorites since the days of Mario Severino. Whether he can continue his kayo string depends on the durability of Marchese, the Niagara champion.

Bifilco's Opponent Rugged

Bifilco has a big job cut out for him. His opponent, Roosevelt Flagg is a hard-hitting ringman who was very popular locally before a trip to Miami, Fla., for two months.

Tony Storace, Rome boxing coach, predicts a win for Dolenti over Oliver Phillips, who proved himself a seasoned fighter against Mike Sallie, a real tough foe.

Alex Ashley who went back to Rome a winner the last time he met Sammy Spadaro is in for a rugged night if "Peanuts" makes good his prediction. "I thought I won the last time, and I'll prove I can beat him when I get the next shot."

The preliminaries have not been announced.

Saugerties Legion Schedules Crack Amsterdam Five

The Saugerties Legion Blues and New Paltz Legion will replay a protested Ulster County League contest as part of a doubleheader Saturday at the Saugerties auditorium at 7:30 p. m.

Saugerties won the original contest early in January by one point in the final minutes of play, but as the periods were only eight minutes duration instead of the original ten the game was protested by New Paltz. The league board upheld the protest and ordered the game replayed.

The Saugerties cagers, riding on a seven-game winning streak, meet the highly rated Amsterdam Lithuanian quintet in the second game. The Lithuanians have won 26 out of 27 games this season.

They won the Troy Invitational tournament and are leading two other capital district tournaments. The Lithuanians have grossed 1679 points for the season, an average of 62 per game.

Kayo Artist

Al Hurlibut, crack Rome, N. Y., light heavyweight, who has scored sensational knockouts in two local appearances. He headlines March 27 boxing show in main event against Johnny Marchese, rugged Niagara district light heavy champion. Hurlibut knocked out Cowboy Jimmy Brightwell on the last card in a bout that was considered one of the greatest brawls in local boxing history.

ver Phillips, Buffalo lightweight. Alex Ashley, Rome vs. Sammy "Peanuts" Spadaro, Albany flyweight.

Hurlibut, a Golden Gloves champion as far back as 1941, is one of the stiffest punchers ever seen in action at the auditorium, and his two knockouts to date have established him as one of the biggest favorites since the days of Mario Severino. Whether he can continue his kayo string depends on the durability of Marchese, the Niagara champion.

Bifilco's Opponent Rugged

Bifilco has a big job cut out for him. His opponent, Roosevelt Flagg is a hard-hitting ringman who was very popular locally before a trip to Miami, Fla., for two months.

Tony Storace, Rome boxing coach, predicts a win for Dolenti over Oliver Phillips, who proved himself a seasoned fighter against Mike Sallie, a real tough foe.

Alex Ashley who went back to Rome a winner the last time he met Sammy Spadaro is in for a rugged night if "Peanuts" makes good his prediction. "I thought I won the last time, and I'll prove I can beat him when I get the next shot."

The preliminaries have not been announced.

Saugerties Legion Schedules Crack Amsterdam Five

The Saugerties Legion Blues and New Paltz Legion will replay a protested Ulster County League contest as part of a doubleheader Saturday at the Saugerties auditorium at 7:30 p. m.

Saugerties won the original contest early in January by one point in the final minutes of play, but as the periods were only eight minutes duration instead of the original ten the game was protested by New Paltz. The league board upheld the protest and ordered the game replayed.

The Saugerties cagers, riding on a seven-game winning streak, meet the highly rated Amsterdam Lithuanian quintet in the second game. The Lithuanians have won 26 out of 27 games this season.

They won the Troy Invitational tournament and are leading two other capital district tournaments. The Lithuanians have grossed 1679 points for the season, an average of 62 per game.

Leonard Ruckert of Long Island motored here and spent the week-end at his boarding house in the village center.

Our "Old Timer" informs us that, coincident with the balmy weather of Wednesday, he observed several crows parked in the tree tops near his house. "A tolerably good harbinger of spring," says O. T., adding that "of course this is no prediction, son!"

A STAR STUDD FIELD: Connie Powers, of the famous Gears by Enterprise squad of Detroit, the country's highest average woman bowler with a sparkling 197 for 72 games, will be among the dozen keggerettes competing with Rose Schatzel for the W.B.C. National Sweetstakes title in Grand Rapids on April 10.

Miss Powers is regarded as the top woman bowler of the season and probably will rule a prohibitive favorite to capture the 6-game all-star classic.

The names of the district champions who will compete for the United States title, and their four-game qualifying totals are:

WREST TURN FOR HOOK
SPIN BEGINS QUARTER WAY
IS OPPOSITE RIGHT KNEE

POINT OF TURN: I am asked repeatedly to explain at approximately what point in the downswing the turning of the wrist begins to apply hook-spin, and the accompanying illustration—drawn from an action photograph—gives the exact position.

Here the body is in perfect balance at the moment before the slide to the foul line is completed. Balance is aided by the outstretched left arm. The weight of the body is thrown just slightly more on the left leg, with the right foot acting as a brake to stop the slide.

With the slide, the forward momentum of the body is reduced to allow the swinging arm to catch up so that it passes the left leg as the slide ends, permitting the arm to swing on through for accurate direction.

As the illustration shows, the arm is swinging loosely and freely, like a pendulum. There must be no effort to hurry the swing, or timing will be broken.

To the point pictured, there has been no wrist action whatever—no turn. The hand is still BEHIND THE BALL, the thumb forward and slightly to the LEFT. Here the wrist begins to turn—with the ball opposite the right knee—the back of the hand merely moving around to the RIGHT and FORWARD so that as the ball released the index finger is POINT-ED at the object pin.

Remember that the wrist turn must be made smoothly as the arm swings freely to its follow-through.

Boxing Comes in Handy

Postman P. E. Roberts, 53, of London, credits the boxing instruction he got in the Army 30 years ago, for his ability to "deal firmly" with an intruder in his home. Roberts' wife awakened him and he found a man on the stairs. Though he is only 5 feet 4 inches tall, he held the burglar until three policemen relieved

Ann Karrer, Philly Ace, Made 1946 Women's All-American

Ann Karrer, of Philadelphia, who meets Rose Schatzel in the first block of a 20-game match for $500 on Saturday, March 22, at the Central Recreation alleys, was one of five bowlers selected by the Women's International Bowling Congress for a feature in the official bowling guide of the A. S. Barnes Company.

Mrs. Karrer averaged more than 190 in the Philadelphia Women's Major last year and shot two 700 series. She is renowned as a match game shooter and throws a terrific hook ball, according to those who have seen her in action.

Among Mrs. Karrer's victims in match game play were Jean Mickey Michaels, Ann Sabolowski and Tillie Taylor, three of the top-ranking female trundlers in the East.

tained the famous Gretz Bowlerettes to several Philadelphia titles, and also has compiled a great record in mixed doubles competition with her husband, who is one of Philly's best bowlers.

Schatzel at Peak
Meanwhile Mrs. Schatzel exploded for 635 in the Colonial Women's loop Wednesday night to furnish proof that she is nearing peak for the March 22-23 clash. An unknown quantity until she trounced Mickey Michaels, the local queen will enter this match an even money choice to win.

Members of the New York Rangers who have seen both women in action predicted it would be a terrific match but declined to predict a winner. The Rangers were particularly impressed by the manner in which Mrs. Schatzel covers her spares.

Reserved seats went on sale yesterday and will be sold on a first come—first served basis.

A special attraction will follow the first block of five games.

Herbert A. Kent Head of Lorillard Co. Started Here

P. Lorillard and Company has designated the month of March as a month of tribute to Herbert A. Kent and to the promotion of Old Gold Sales. Activities in the tobacco industry are being marked by the company through unique advertising in newspapers.

Of special interest to the public in Kingston and surrounding area is the fact that the president of P. Lorillard and Company is Herbert A. Kent, who started his activities in the tobacco business as a salesman for the Lorillard Company in Kingston.

Mr. Kent's energetic efforts and application to his job gained him early recognition in the organization until by successive steps he has achieved the distinction of heading up the company for which he first started to work. The recollections of these early friendships and a respect for his business dealings are to a large extent responsible for the loyalty of the men in the organization which he heads and of the dealers who have since that time sold Lorillard products.

Condon-Wadlin

legislation" and said it would provide public employees with a "grand out" to "resist coercion by subversive forces."
Spokesmen for New York city C.I.O. members, who marched on Albany two days ago in protest against the measure, said they would continue a "death watch." They demanded that Dewey hold a public hearing before acting on the measure.
It was reported out of the Senate Labor committee Tuesday and passed by the smaller House that night on a party vote, with one Republican joining the Democrats in opposition.
The measure, introduced in the Republican-controlled Legislature before the one-week strike of Buffalo school teachers last month and toughened by reportedly Dewey-dictated amendments, provides that:
1.—Public employees shall not strike and that such strikes be dismissed automatically.
2.—Discharged employees could ask for reinstatement within 10 days on the grounds they did not violate the law.
3.—Discharged workers, if rehired, would receive pay no higher than before their discharge, no increase for three years and suffer loss of tenure rights for five years during which period they could be discharged summarily.
The bill was sponsored by Senator William F. Condon, Yonkers, and Assemblyman John F. Wadlin, Ulster county, both Republicans.
The two-hour, dramatic debate

in the high-ceilinged Assembly chamber was decorous except for an uproar caused by an exchange between Republican Abraham Schulman, Rochester, and Samuel Kaplan of Brooklyn, the House's only American Labor member.
Kaplan said the Condon-Wadlin bill would destroy basic civil rights then declined to answer when Schulman asked him if he believed public employees should have the right to strike.
Schulman repeated his question three more times and boos rose from the Republican side when Kaplan finally retorted:
"You won't get me to answer that."
Gittelson said that public employees strikes could be prevented under existing statutes and cited the "intestinal fortitude" with which the mayor of Syracuse last year "broke a strike" of municipal water works employees "in two hours."
Gittelson said it was "impossible to get a better weapon than those at hand."

The striking picture showing scenes of great disasters of all kinds and the work done by the American Red Cross on such occasions featured the program at the meeting of Kiwanis Thursday noon. G. Wallace Codwise gave a talk preceding the showing and said that the picture was not designed as propaganda, but with the idea of making people disaster conscious and Red Cross conscious.

Of the present campaign to raise a budget of $2,700,000 for the Red Cross, with Ulster county's quota placed at $28,000, Mr. Codwise said that a large share of the money to be raised would be located to disaster relief work. An important part of that work, he said, was the furnishing of speedy information to friends and relatives of those who had been killed or injured in these disasters.

The Ulster County Chapter of the Red Cross, with other Chapters throughout the nation, was said to be prepared to play its part in event of any emergency.
President Herbert DeKay emphasized the important meeting on March 20, when Lt. Gov. Leo Eyrne will be honored. Presidents, vice presidents, and secretaries of all Kiwanis clubs in the Division will be present and all past lieutenant governors have been invited to attend.

Girl, 13, Undergoes Leg Amputation in Springfield

Springfield, Mass., March 13 (AP)—Thirteen-year-old Joan Marie Stumper's right leg was amputated today—at her own request—so she can "get around" like other girls without crutches.
Dr. Garry de Hough, who performed the operation at Shriners' Hospital said she was "getting along fine."

Joan Marie personally made the decision to undergo amputation after doctors told her that in a few months, with an artificial limb, she could discard the crutches she's used since she was five.

"Do it if it will make me like other children," she bravely told them after thinking it over.
Joan, an honor student at Pittsfield Central Junior High School, suffered a malignant tumor in her leg eight years ago. She broke the leg two years ago and it has never healed.
Dr. de Hough said he anticipated that as a result of the amputation she would be able to play within a reasonable time.

Recommendations for improvements to the school lunchroom, an investigation and probable aid in the matter of clothing for needy children, recognition of a gift from the Kingston Lions Club for the eyeglass fund, and an address by the local scout executive comprised the business of the School 5 Mother's Club meeting Thursday at the school on Wynkoon Place.

Proposed changes in the lunchroom include the enlargement of the quarters, a new floor, additional kitchen facilities, and interior decoration. A letter will be sent to the Board of Education.
The eyeglass project was accorded added support at yesterday's meeting when it was revealed the Kingston Lions Club had donated $25 to the eyeglass fund. A letter of appreciation was ordered sent to the club.

February Milk Price Is Fixed at $4.57 Per Hundred

New York, March 11 (AP)—Milk delivered to 132 pool-approved plants in the New York metropolitan milk shed during February will bring farmers $4.57 per hundredweight compared with $3.58 paid a year ago. C. J. Blanford, market administrator, announced today.

The uniform price applies to milk testing 3.5 per cent butterfat. Although the number of producers last month, 45,383, was 1,420 fewer than February, 1946, their production per day was the highest for any February in the history of the federal-state mar-ketings orders, Blanford said. This pushed the month's production to 379,199,552 pounds, an increase of 3.85 per cent over the 365,861,088 pounds produced in February, 1946. Average daily production per dairy was up from 279 pounds to 298.

Farm Jobs Await 26 Couples and 10 Unmarried Men

Dairy and fruit farmers of Ulster county are furnishing favorable opportunities to married couples, as well as to single men, who are seeking employment and homes, Donald R. Munn, farm labor assistant at the Farm bureau office, said this morning.

Every day, Mr. Munn stated, the office is receiving calls from families who are in need of help and who are offering to pay good wages, in addition to furnishing homes and other inducements. Right now, he said, we have on file requests from farmers for 26 couples and ten single men, who have had some farm training, to take positions on dairy or fruit farms.

A considerable number of placements already have been made, Mr. Munn said, adding that in February the office located six couples on farms, the husband in every case being a returned veteran. With the exception of two jobs, which involve on-the-job training under the GI Bill of Rights wages offered run from $125 to $150 a month with houses furnished in every instance. Besides this a garden, generally is available, with various other considerations, such as milk (on dairy farms), eggs, fruit, etc.

Working Conditions
Wages in the cases of those receiving on-the-job training are $100 a month, in addition to which the government will make allowances up to $90 a month.

The Farm Bureau office also placed eight single men during February, two of whom were veterans. They are receiving an average wage of $70 a month, with room and board.

Among the job opportunities for single men now on file is one where two men are wanted on a dairy farm, at wages of $105 a month with room and board. The job calls for experienced men however.

Cites Big Wage Raise
Discussing the wages being paid for farm work these days, Mr. Munn observed that it is not so many years ago that $20 to $30 a month with room and board was the prevailing rate. Preceding the war, he said, about $75 a month was tops.

Preceding his taking the position with the Farm Bureau as farm labor assistant, where he has

Al Hurlibut, Biflco, Flagg Slated on Boxing Show, March 27

Amateur Favorites Are Paired Against Outstanding Foes

Local boxing fans who cheered themselves hoarse as they watched Al Hurlibut knock out Macklin Howard of New York and Jimmy Brightwell, Oklahoma Golden Gloves, will get another look at the Rome, N. Y., middleweight star on B'nai B'rith's next card at the municipal auditorium, Thursday night, March 27.

Dr. Saul Goldfarb, the organization's boxing chairman, today said it was definite Hurlibut would be on the flistic bill in an over-the-weight match with Johnny Marchese, 175-pound champion from the Niagara district of the A.A.U.

Two stalwarts of Hurlibut are billed to see action on the same ring program—Oliver Phillips and Frankie Biflco, who lost unpopular decisions in bouts here several weeks ago.

Biflco, a rapid fire bantam, according to many who saw the scarp, was robbed out of a decision when he boxed Carmine Virgilio of Poughkeepsie, and Phillips climbed out of the ring amid boisterous cheers although he was declared the loser to Mike Salic, Schenectady puncher.

Hurlibut is not the only Roman on the March 27 card. Frankie Dolenti, a lightweight and Alex Ashley, flyweight, are on the list.

Five Rounders Listed
Here's how the five-round features shape up:

Al Hurlibut, Rome, vs. Johnny Marchese, Buffalo light-heavyweight.
Frankie Dolenti, Rome vs. Oliver Phillips, Buffalo lightweight.

Kayo Artist

Al Hurlibut, crack Rome, N. Y., light heavyweight, who has scored sensational knockouts in two local appearances. He headlines March 27 boxing show in main event against Johnny Marchese, rugged Niagara district light-heavy champion. Hurlibut knocked out Cowboy Jimmy Brightwell on the last card in a bout that was considered one of the greatest brawls in local boxing history.

ver Phillips, Buffalo lightweight. Alex Ashley, Rome vs. Sammy "Peanuts" Spadaro, Albany flyweight.

Hurlibut, a Golden Gloves champion as far back as 1941, is one of the stiffest punchers ever seen in action at the auditorium, and his two knockouts to date have established him as one of the biggest favorites since the days of Mario Severino. Whether he can continue his kayo string depends on the durability of Marchese, the Niagara champion.

Biflco's Opponent Nugged
Biflco has a big job cut out for him. His opponent, Roosevelt Flagg is a hard-hitting ringman who was very popular locally because of his trip to Miami, Fla., for two months.

Tony Storace, Rome boxing coach, predicts a win for Dolenti over Oliver Phillips, who proved himself a seasoned fighter against Mike Salic, a real tough foe.

Alex Ashley who went back to Rome to win the last time he met Sammy Spadaro is in for a rugged night if "Peanuts" makes good his prediction. "I thought I won the last time, and I'll prove I can beat him when I get the next shot."

The preliminaries have not been announced.

Saugerties Legion Schedules Crack Amsterdam Five

The Saugerties Legion Blues and New Paltz Legion will replay a protested Ulster County League contest as part of a doubleheader Saturday at the Saugerties auditorium at 7:30 p. m.

Saugerties won the original contest early in January by one point in the final minutes of play, but as the periods were only eight minutes duration instead of the original ten the game was protested by New Paltz. The league board upheld the protest and ordered the game replayed.

The Saugerties eagles, riding on a seven-game winning streak, meet the highly rated Amsterdam Lithuanian quintet in the second game. The Lithuanians have won 26 out of 27 games this season.

They won the Troy Invitation tournament and are leading two other capital district tournaments. The Lithuanians have grossed 1679 points for the season, an average of 62 per game.

As the illustration shows, the arm is swinging loosely and freely like a pendulum. There must be no effort to hurry the swing, or turning will be broken.

To the point pictured, there has been no wrist action whatever—no turn. The hand is still BEHIND THE BALL, the thumb forward and slightly to the LEFT. Here the wrist begins to turn—when the ball opposite the right knee—the back of the hand merely moving around to the RIGHT and FORWARD so that as the ball is released the index finger is POINTED at the object pin.

Remember that the wrist turn must be made smoothly as the arm swings freely to its follow-through.

Condon-Wadlin

legislation" and said it would provide public employees with a "grand out" to resist coercion by subversive forces.

Spokesmen for New York city C.I.O. members who marched on Albany two days ago in protest against the measure, said they would continue a "death watch." They demanded that Dewey hold a public hearing before acting on the measure.

It was reported out of the Senate Labor committee Tuesday and passed by the smaller House that night on a party vote with one Republican joining the Democrats in opposition.

The measure, introduced in the Republican-controlled Legislature before the one week strike of Buffalo school teachers last month and toughened by reportedly Dewey-dictated amendments, provides that:

1—Public employees shall not strike and that such strikes be dismissed automatically.

2—Discharged employees could ask for reinstatement within 10 days on the grounds they did not violate the law.

3—Discharged workers, if required, would receive pay no higher than before their discharge, no increase for three years and suffer loss of tenure rights for five years during which period they could be discharged summarily.

The bill was sponsored by Senator William F. Condon, Yonkers, and Assemblyman John F. Wadlin, Ulster county, both Republicans.

The two-hour, dramatic debate

in the high-ceilinged Assembly chamber was decorous except for an uproar caused by an exchange between Republican Abraham Schulman, Rochester, and Samuel Kaplan of Brooklyn, the House's only American Labor member.

Kaplan said the Condon-Wadlin bill would destroy basic civil rights then declined to answer when Schulman asked him if he believed public employees should have the right to strike.

Schulman repeated his question three more times and boos rose from the Republican side when Kaplan finally retorted:

"You won't get me to answer that."

Gittelson said that public employee strikes could be prevented under existing statutes and cited the "antistrike" ordinance with which the mayor of Syracuse last year "broke a strike" of municipal water works employees "in two hours."

Gittelson said it was "impossible to get a better weapon than those at hand."

In reply to a Republican who said existing laws did not prevent the Buffalo strike, Gittelson said they would have had the head of the city's government shown courage in using them.

Noting the Condon-Wadlin provisions providing for automatic discharge of a striking public employee and his opportunity to be rehired if he proved he had not violated the law, Gittelson asserted:

"The man is automatically found guilty and then given the chance of proving his innocence—at his own expense."

He said the law contained no provision to recompense a rehired or "vindicated" worker for wages lost during his "discharge."

"We are schooled," Gittelson said, "on the presumption a man is innocent until proved guilty. Under this bill a man is automatically found guilty when given the opportunity of establishing his innocence."

"Is this our conception of American jurisprudence, our sense of decent treatment and justice?"

Assemblyman Becker said that the Democratic-controlled 1946 Congress passed an appropriations bill which stipulated that no funds be used to pay employees who advocated public employee strikes or overthrow of the government by force.

The Condon-Wadlin bill, he added, was mild by comparison in that it contained no provision for fines or prison terms.

Majority Leader Lee B. Mailer said the Condon-Wadlin bill was "teensy-weensy" compared with the federal law which he said classed violation as a felony and provided for a minimum $1,000 fine and year imprisonment.
